Robert Johnson, Coshocton Jail Escapee, Nabbed Here

Firman Sidekick Gives Up After 80 m.p.h. Chase

Attempted to Wreck Cruiser; Caught By Whinnery, Bradley

By LARRY QUINN

Robert Johnson, 22-year-old sidekick of the elusive Gordon (Spunky) Firman, was captured here early this morning by Salem police after an 80 mile an hour chase through the southeast section of the city.

Although there was no conclusive evidence that Firman, a robber and jailbreaker, accompanied Johnson to Salem, it is believed by police that the 21-year-old desperado was somewhere in the area. The search in the southeast section of the city continued up to prestime.

At last report, the search was being conducted in the Toronto area where Firman was believed to have been seen last.

Firman Also Hunted Here

Firman, one of the most wanted fugitives ever to be sought in Ohio, is suspected of having been with Johnson in Salem last night or was to have joined him somewhere near the Southeast Blvd. Shopping Plaza.

Police said water marks in the stolen car which Johnson was driving when apprehended indicated that someone was with him shortly before his capture. A cordon of police, sheriff's deputies and state patrolmen scoured the area around the plaza and Grandview Cemetery until late this morning without turning up any clues to Firman's whereabouts.

Johnson was to be turned over to Coshocton authorities today. He is being held in county jail.

Capture of Johnson was executed by Patrolmen Richard Whinnery and Donald Bradley at 12:42 a.m. at the intersection of Ohio Ave. and E. State St.

Making Routine Check

The patrolmen said they were making a routine check of the plaza when they spotted a 1960 model Chrysler speeding away from the area. They immediately took pursuit, suspecting the other auto might have been stolen.

They said the car sped north on Franklin Ave. at a very high rate of speed and then cut off onto Ohio Ave.

While they were in pursuit, the patrolmen said, Johnson attempted to force them off the roadway twice, once on Franklin Ave. and again on Ohio Ave.

They said he also hit the brakes on two occasions in an effort to make the cruiser ram the rear end of the stolen car.

Johnson Leaped Out

When the chase reached State St., patrolmen said, Johnson stopped suddenly, leaped from the car and ran toward St. Paul's Church. Whinnery and Bradley jumped out of the cruiser and threatened to shoot him before he reached the church.

Whinnery said he shouted to Johnson, "Stop! Or I'll shoot your head from under your hat." Johnson halted immediately and surrendered.

While Johnson was handcuffed and in the process of being searched, Police Lt. Robert Kirchgessner arrived on the scene. Immediately afterward, Johnson revealed his identity. He told the police officers "I might as well tell you. I'm Johnson, the escapee you are looking for."

Disclosed Tattoo, Scar

In the police station, a more thorough search of the bandit disclosed a tattoo on his arm bearing his initials and a scar behind one ear, both of which police had been alerted to look for by statewide police communications.

A check of his car turned up an unloaded shotgun in the trunk, along with several items of clothing, some of which is believed to be prison attire from the Coshocton Jail, a camera, suitcase, a pair of black gloves, and some toiletry items. He also had 33 cents in his pockets.

Police did not find any ammunition.

Spunky's Career Started at 14

Always In Trouble, Mother Recalls

By CLAIR STEBBINS
Columbus Dispatch Staff Writer

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—The question among Ohio law enforcement officers is: "Where will Spunky Firman show up next?"

The answer: "Where he's least expected."

The free-wheeling bandit of the Walhonding Valley has been blazing a bizarre trail of crime from one end of the state to the other since breaking out of the Coshocton County jail the night of July 26.

His exploits have been less believable than a television adventure script.

The 21-year-old gun-toter, with a crime record that dates back seven years, has a talent for eluding posses and dodging roadblocks.

This does not surprise law enforcement officers here because, they say, he knows every back road in Coshocton County.

His home is on such a back road just north of U.S. 36, not far from the village of Warsaw, north-west of here.

It's an area of hills and strip mines, where hideouts are plentiful. That is why he always returns to home base while the Ohio Highway Patrol and other officers search in different parts of the state.

His worried mother, Mrs. Margaret Mason, can't remember when Gordon — that's Spunky's real name — wasn't in some sort of trouble.

"He was always a rascal," she told me, but it was clear that she still looked upon him with affection.

"He can be a good boy," she said. "In fact, he is two different personalities — the good Spunky and the bad. He has a lot of friends."

Air Pistol Pellet Hits Boy In Head

LEETONIA—George Wire, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Wire of Somer St., was shot in the head by William E. Preset, 19, of Mansfield, Pa., with an air pistol about 11 a.m. Tuesday, police report.

Preset said he was target practicing in the back yard at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hayes of 316 State St., where he is a houseguest.

The injured boy was treated at the office of a local physician and given a booster tetanus shot.

Medical Plan Defeated by Senate Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—The issue of medical care for the aged was marked down today by Sen. John F. Kennedy for extensive treatment in the fall campaign after his defeat in the Senate on the issue.

A 51-44 vote defeated the proposal backed by Kennedy to write broad medical care benefits into the Social Security system and to raise payroll taxes to pay for them.

The defeat of the Democratic measure came only a few hours after the Senate had voted down a Republican-backed plan for a federal-state subsidy to help the aged with their medical bills.

A less liberal medical help program of federal grants to the states was approved after the plans backed by both the presidential candidates had been defeated.

The Democratic presidential nominee blamed his setback on the threat of a veto by President Eisenhower of including any health benefit plan in the Social Security system.

Kennedy said he regarded the vote on this question as a good test of whether it would be possible to pass any progressive legislation in this politically charged congressional session.

Once it was taken, he said, the remaining course was to "take the matter to the people of this country in the election in October and November."

Lions Hear Talk on Political Activity

Citizen participation in partisan politics was compared to membership in a service club when Judge Carl R. Hoover of the Cuyahoga County common pleas court spoke to members of the Lions Club on Tuesday evening at the Lape Hotel.

His talk was entitled "So You Want to be a Politician." William Redshaw was the speaker.

Congo Troops Dispatched to Quiet Tribes

600 Fly to Kasai to End Fights, Threats Of Secessionists

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Premier Patrice Lumumba poured Congolese troops by air today into Kasai province, torn by tribal strife and threatened with secessionist movement.

The government requisitioned virtually all aircraft of the new Air Congo — formerly Belgium's Sabena line—to form an airlift between Leopoldville and Lulua-bourg, center of continuing tribal warfare.

Congolese soldiers, commanded by hastily promoted officers, began boarding planes at Leopoldville's airport Tuesday afternoon.

Col. Joseph Mobutu, chief of staff of the fledgling Congolese army, confirmed that more than 600 men have been dispatched to Lulua-bourg.

The provincial government of Leopoldville province appealed to U. N. soldiers to help it fight "Belgian paratroopers." The provincial government claimed that "many Belgian planes" dropped men and equipment Monday night and that the paratroopers were entrenched in the Lower Congo area near the frontier of Portuguese Angola.

There was no confirmation of the provincial government's claim. To some observers it sounded like an extension of the spy charges Lumumba whipped up against the Belgians last week to rally public sentiment behind him and take the steam out of growing anti-Lumumba sentiment in the Lower Congo.

It was certain, however, that Kasai province, east of Leopoldville, was torn by serious trouble.

For years the violently hostile Lulua and Baluba tribes have been fighting pitched battles with spears and poisoned arrows. Since political chaos and disorder swept the newly independent Congo, the struggle between the two primitive tribes has flared with new intensity.

A number of U. N. soldiers have been reported killed or wounded while trying to control the turbulent area. No official toll figures have been announced, but U. N. officials have spoken of at least five Tunisian soldiers killed.

For some time, the Congolese government has been asking the United Nations to supply planes.

Friends Speaker Urges 'Great Spiritual Revival'

Urging that the Friends Church precipitate a revival of great spiritual impact, the Rev. Herbert Handy, a retiring minister of the Friends Church, opened the Ohio Yearly Meeting of Friends in Damascus Tuesday.

The Rev. Handy, from Mt. Pleasant, keyed the Meeting, stating that today in the church the issues are not temperance, political or social reform but spiritual. The meeting is the 147th in the history of the Friends and will run through Sunday.

Dr. Walter R. Williams, acting general superintendent, reported that he had concern for the church, both spiritually and financially.

In other areas, Dr. Williams reported that missionary rallies had been held in one third of the churches during the last year and noted that 18 pastoral changes had been made. He also pointed out that one new church was con-

Man Files $325,000 Suit After Injury

LISBON—A suit for $325,000 for permanent disability and injuries and medical expenses allegedly stemming from a tractor-trailer-wagon accident was filed in common pleas court by Ronald Eugene Dively, 21, of Lisbon RD 4.

Henry Dietrick of Detroit and James L. Box Trucking Co., Necedah, Wis., were named defendants in the case.

Mr. Dively claims in the petition that on June 29, he was riding on a wagon attached to a tractor loaded with oats and they were traveling west on Route 30, about 4 miles west of Lisbon, when the truck-trailer driven by Dietrick, also going west, struck the wagon, injuring the plaintiff severely. He asks $75,000 for medical and other expenses and $250,000 for total disability.

Controversial Measure Meets No Opposition

Only Obstacle to Bill's Becoming Law Is Mayor's Veto

Salem's income tax ordinance calling for a levy of one-half of one percent passed its second and third readings at a special meeting of City Council last night and will become law barring any veto action by Mayor Dean Cramer.

The ordinance, the resolution explaining the ordinance and four other ordinances went through the legislative process as emergency measures. Only the resolution met opposition.

Only possible obstacle to the measures hangs on the mayor's power of the veto. He has 10 days in which to act. After that period the tax becomes law.

Another Special Meeting

Michael Schuller, Council president, has called for another special meeting on Aug. 30 to take further action in the event the mayor chooses to veto the bill.

Schuller said, however, that if the mayor does not veto it, the scheduled meeting will be called off. A two-thirds vote of all councilmen would be required to pass the measure over the mayor's opposition.

The income tax will be collected on the basis of 50 cents for every $100 earned in Salem commencing Oct. 1 and running through Dec. 31, 1961. It was thrown into the legislative hopper last week at Council's regular session and passed its first reading at that time. It is estimated by J. Emerson Davis of Youngstown, the city's tax consultant, that the tax will yield approximately $200,000 annually.

Took Only 20 Minutes

There was no discussion of the ordinance at last night's meeting. The entire process of enacting the legislation took little more than 20 minutes.

The opposition to the resolution came from Ward 1 Councilman Albert Lesch who said after the meeting that he voted no on the emergency clause of the resolution and on passage because of grammatical error in a section dealing with penalties imposed on the auditor or her deputies for promiscuously revealing income data on individuals.

He called attention to the fact that the resolution reads "six month" imprisonment or $500 fine rather than "six months." However, it was explained later that the "s" was penciled into the ordinance making it legal. Lesch voted in favor of the remaining legislation.

Besides the income tax ordinance, Council also gave emergency approval to five ordinances contingent on the passage of the tax bill. These include:

An ordinance hiring Davis as the city's tax consultant.

An ordinance giving the city auditor authority to advertise for bids on additional office furniture.

An ordinance establishing the number of personnel to be employed to collect the tax and their salaries. This includes a deputy auditor at a salary not to exceed $5,000 per year, one clerk at a sal-

Minor Accident Probed by Patrolmen

One minor accident was investigated by Canfield state highway patrolmen Tuesday.

The mishap occurred at 6 p.m. on the Goshenu Rd., about one-half mile north of Rt. 165. Patrolmen said a car driven by Mildred Boemlein, 61, of Steubenville, stalled while the woman was backing it out of a private drive. A northbound car, driven by Mary Banar, 50, of RD 4, Calla Rd., Salem, struck the stalled vehicle. Patrolmen said, and then hit a tree.

There were no injuries or arrests.

Firefighters Control Raging Western Fires

By The Associated Press
Firefighters were getting the best of the West's major blazes today.

In California and Western Nevada, rangers expressed hope of containing two huge blazes along the majestic Sierra Nevada.

In the Black Hills of South Dakota, three forest fires were contained late Tuesday by 500 men using borate bombers and bulldozers.

In the northwest corner of Nebraska, 150 firefighters controlled a 3,000-acre blaze that had been raging since Sunday.

The worst of the fires were along the eastern slope of the Sierra, in Northern California, where more than 70,000 acres of woodland were destroyed.

Burned were nearly 100 million board feet of lumber—enough to build 6,500 average-sized homes—valued at more than four million dollars.

The best news from the Sierra was reduced winds and increased humidity. Near Truckee, Calif., where power lines to Reno and 14 other Nevada cities were knocked out Sunday, temperatures were dropping drastically.

In Nebraska, rangers kept a close watch on Sorelly Canyon, a rugged pine ridge area west of Chadron. Flames broke out of the canyon for a while Tuesday but were quickly contained.

In addition to the three major fires in the Black Hills, firefighters were scattering to handle 15 smaller blazes that flared in timberlands west of Hot Springs, S.D. In all, about 2,500 acres were ravaged by flames in the state.

Spunky Can Be Good, Mom Says

friends, but I suppose he has a lot of enemies, too."

His friends have included former inmates at Mansfield Reformatory, some of whom have accompanied him during his recent crime spree.

He became a criminal at the age of 14 when he terrorized truck drivers along Ohio 16 near Coshocton.

Finding them asleep in their trucks along the highway, he would slip up on them, prod them with a revolver, then make off with their money.

One drowsy driver failed to respond promptly and Spunky shot him. The man recovered.

These crimes were for small stakes, for truck drivers seldom carry more than a few dollars in their wallets.

After the shooting of the truck driver, Spunky took off for his old home town of Steubenville and was arrested there by a policeman who saw him on the street at 2 a. m. The cop thought this was a late hour for such a small boy to be out alone.

Following a two-year stretch in the Boys Industrial School at Lancaster, Spunky was released and promptly got into trouble again. He was arrested in 1956 for burglary and grand larceny after "breaking into a lot of places," as Deputy Sheriff Dwight Walker recalls it.

This time he was sent to Mansfield Reformatory and was released last January.

Luck has played a major role in Spunky's recent success.

Hunted by a posse in Coshocton County two weeks ago, he managed to escape pursuing bloodhounds by wading a stream.

Later, the bloodhounds were said to be hot on his trail when the man who was handling the dogs became exhausted and had to rest.

On one occasion on this chase, Spunky was saved by the fact that an auxiliary deputy sheriff, William Wilson, didn't want to shoot the youth when he had the chance at close range.

Instead, he fired at the truck firm was driving in the hope of stopping him, but without success.

Firman is now wanted in a half-dozen counties for crimes ranging from car theft and burglary to assault and kidnapping. His trail has led from Steubenville on the Ohio River to Middletown in the southwestern part of the state and back through southern Ohio.

His most spectacular exploit came last Wednesday when he showed up at the Coshocton County jail and forced a deputy, at gunpoint, to release a cory, Bob Johnson, 22. Then he locked the officer, Owen Meredith in Johnson's cell.

Firman and Johnson are known to be armed and dangerous. To throw officers off their trail, they abandon one car and steal another at frequent intervals. If pursuers come uncomfortably close, they head for the back roads of Coshocton County.

How did Spunky get that nickname? Not for any of his criminal habits. An older brother started calling him that when he was a baby.

Never Sell Yankee Doodle Short

When everybody began to blame everybody else after the Russians sent up Sputnik I, our comment was that Americans would make up for lost time with plenty to spare, because their pride had been hurt.

We remembered this when the news came about the celestial balloon, Echo I, and the recovery of a space capsule fired from a satellite that had been placed in orbit.

It is one thing to comprehend why the celestial balloon is a tremendous breakthrough in communications, and why recovery of the capsule is the most important event in satellites and space conquest since Sputnik I. It is another thing to comprehend what has happened since the Russians hurt American pride with Sputnik I three years ago next Oct. 4.

One is scientific. The other is both emotional and scientific.

WE ARE TOLD over and over again that the United States is being challenged by the Soviet Union. That's one way to think of it. The other way is to think that the Soviet Union is trying to meet the challenge the United States has been issuing to the world since 1776.

We are told that the American people must prove their right to survive. There's nothing new about that, because the American people always have had to prove their right to survive. But there's a special element of urgency about it right now because of the Communist conspiracy's credo that there's room for nothing but Communism in the world.

They say this because they have no confidence in their ability to meet competition. The idea of co-existence gives the hammer-and-sickle crowd the fanatics, because they know what would happen. That's why they've pulled the whistle on Khrushchev, who was beginning to talk as if he really believed in co-existence.

It was our thought in 1947 that Sputnik I would fire up the imagination and energy of the U.S. Military, civil officials, the scientific community and the great companies that have underpinned the American dream. We predicted that they would outdo themselves and make Russia rue the day they put this burr of a challenge under the American eagle's tail. We thought that competition would be good, because we'd come out ahead. We always have.

IT HAS BEEN a hard pull, and the pulling isn't over. But reports of missiles being whammed down the Atlantic range on target, of talking satellites, balloons, celestial cameras and capsules that eventually will carry men to outer space and back with no more hazard than a trip to Yellowstone are now commonplace.

Even political gadflies who were counting on battering the Eisenhower administration to a pulp on the launching pads at Cape Canaveral are beginning to talk louder about paying the medical bills of the oldsters and giving working stiff in turpentine camps $1.25 an hour, but with no guarantee of staying on the payroll. The missile gap is closing up.

Our thought three years ago was never to sell Yankee Doodle short. That's still our idea. It used to be foreigners who were always doing this to their sorrow, but lately we've been stilling one another short when ever doubt was planted here by the competition's success.

It's nice to realize the Kremlinites now are grumbling. "Why didn't you do that first, you lunkhead?"

The Untried Farm Policy

For all the ranting that has been done about the farm problem in this (and every) election year, it remained for Secretary Benson to pierce the smokescreen and put his finger on the real trouble.

It is not that the Benson farm policies have failed. The trouble is that the Benson farm policies have never been tried.

The blame for that belongs to Congress, but all Democratic and some Republican congressmen are making the secretary the scapegoat. And those Republicans who are helping the Democrats make him the scapegoat are probably the same ones who helped the Democrats sabotage his proposals on Capitol Hill. The farm situation, after years of dictation from Washington, is a mess so sticky and so murky that nothing short of a total revolution in farm policy will solve it. That was what Secretary Benson had in mind when he took the thankless agriculture post in the Eisenhower cabinet in 1953.

RECOGNIZING the complexities of the farm problem, he conceived his solution as a whole,

A Great Experience

Helle Gade Jensen of Skagen, Denmark, has won many friends in the few days that the charming and polite exchange student has been able to become acquainted with our city and its people. But during the ensuing 10 months when the Danish girl is a senior at Salem High School, this bond of friendship will widen considerably.

Already she is being made to feel right at home by her new "parents," the Dr. Donald Leases. She likes Salem and is fast becoming familiar with American customs.

It will be a great experience for Helle Jensen to live in Salem and graduate next June with the High School Class of 1961. It will be a rewarding venture, too, for the High School Student Council which sponsored her visit here.

Welcome to Salem, Helle.

Once Over

The next U.S. World's Fair, the New York Exposition, has put up "Sex Appeal Go Home" sign on exposition. Head man says dignity, trade promotion, science and industry will get no competition from hip-twisters, muscle dancers, peepers, bathing beauties or other carnival attractions traditional at world fairs.

There will be no "trylon and perisphere" as symbols this time. But we suggest statues entitled "Lady Godiva Expelled From Flushing Meadows by Old Yale Blue," or perhaps an oil painting "Minsky's Flight Across the Ice." (Fair may be so dull from showmanship viewpoint that "Variety" won't bother to send critic.)

Bob Moses, the fair's director, announced amusement area will "be fenced off," and made a thing apart, although he says he realizes customers are entitled to some fun.

A world's fair without the "open carnival touch" openly arrived at was once unthinkable, fenced in or not. Lady with the rubber torso, "Mile. Boppo and her sensational troupe of jungle dancers," "Little Egypt" whose muscular gyrations upset the Nile River area, etc., are not the attractions they once were but there are modern replacements and box office will suffer if they are wholly banished.

Who wants a world's fair without something other than trade progress to tell the folks back home about?

An imposing edifice dedicated to industrial progress has its good points. But it would get more customers if it could wriggle.

with each part coordinated with and dependent upon all the other parts. Executed as a whole, it might have worked. It never got the chance.

For too many farm-belt congressmen, with their eyes focused on the short-term dilemma of garnering votes, are like amateur whittlers who have no clear idea of what they are going to create when they set to work with the knife. They carve a little here and chip a little there, sticking in a wad of putty when they make a slip that throws the whole thing out of proportion.

When it is finished, it looks like what it is: A hacked up piece of wood.

That has been the fate of the Benson farm programs in Congress. Not once has Capitol Hill accepted an entire set of Benson proposals aimed at accomplishing an over-all goal. Instead, the proposals have been torn apart, distorted, deformed and then put back together in a shape that bore only the slightest resemblance to the Benson program.

But, shrewdly, the congressmen labeled their creation in such a way as to make it appear that Mr. Benson was the author. Thus, they are able to accuse him of instituting policies that have been miserable failures.

The whole performance is an example of legislative provincialism at its worst.

MR. BENSON is not the system's first victim, nor is he likely to be its last. Yet he himself holds out some hope for a change in the future.

He suggests that, despite the Democratic nominee's efforts to defeat a rift between the secretary and Vice President Nixon, the Republican standard-bearer's farm policy will be built on the same foundation fostered by Mr. Benson.

If Mr. Nixon can successfully pit his political talents against the provincialism of Capitol Hill, the secretary's policies may yet be tried and proved correct.

Maybe some women are employed in banks because they're naturally good tellers.

By H. I. Phillips

Mr. Moses has always been disdainful of the carnival touch. He is a sort of Aladdin and Wonderful Lamp to the sphere of city modernization, and the cry of "Take 'em off," ringing across the Flushing Meadows Fair site is naturally jarring to a man who never heard a similar cry in the world of viaducts, superhighways, tunnels, and slum clearances.

But he had better go easy with fenced-in amusements and exiled dancing gals. Manufacturing the commerce should never shut out sex appeal completely.

EX MAYOR BILL O'DWYER of New York has gone into the movie business. He will welcome scripts from anybody but Kefauver. Although more than two million dollars was spent at the Saratoga horse auction, an auction of art drew few customers.

Mother valued money—She was a frugal dear, But no one dared to ask her "Will you endorse a BEER?"

Vegetarian Party has ticket in presidential campaign. Maybe a vegetarian government could be helpful in these days when so many troublemakers seem to be living on raw meat. It is proposed to move New York's famous Fulton Fish Market from the lower East River to the far Bronx. This could kill the idea that few fish swim upstream.

A Stamford, Conn., judge has ruled that a swimming club in a residential district is not a nuisance. Our bet is that hizzoner has a home in the mountains.

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

TOULON, France
In this city crowded around the churning naval base, I was told of France's dream of a great atomic navy. I'm here a few days after talks in Gen. De Gaulle's own residence, the Palais Elysee, and final briefings by Supreme Allied Commander Gen. Lauris Norstad on our atomic "sword and shield" operation along the vast Soviet arctic borders.

I wondered then, why Chairman Khrushchev had given orders for speedy increase of conventional cannon, machine guns and material fit for an old World War II armory. Evidence of this pea-shooter production was obtained by anti-Communist Czech experts living in exile.

They first noted this "retreat" to garden variety dynamite when reports came in of the construction of a vast new workers' village in Dubnica, West Slovakia.

This has long been a Pilsen Skoda work center. Before the last war the production unit there had 3,000 employees.

THE WORKS, called the K. G. Vorosilov Armament Plants, started expanding their gun production. By the beginning of 1960 there were 12,000 workers. But apparently this is not the limit of the work force. The model workers housing project in Dubnica has just been ordered to expand to 20,000 units.

The new employees, obviously, will be trained to make non-atomic weapons, because the installations are not equipped for any other type of production.

I reported earlier that the K. G. Vorosilov complex whips out heavy 152 mm and 252 mm guns.

On the line there also are "mobile guns mounted on platforms," according to the report.

Engines for such weapons are designed by the Tatra car factory.

Between 1956 and 1958 the Vorosilov company enlarged its facilities by six huge workshops. Specifically, these included a large blacksmith and forging unit, two big buildings housing Siemens electric furnaces, a structure holding big hydraulic presses of special types produced by the Pilsen Skoda works, a four-turbine power station and an assembly line building for the cannon.

All the traditional technical Czech skill which has gone into the gun operation has made the Prague Communist leaders red cocky. Not so long ago the outfit produced its first "Slovak-made" electric engine.

Of course, they had a Socialist celebration.

CHIEF SPEAKER was Karel Polacek, Czech minister of general engineering. He boasted: "Czechoslovakia produces as much as Austria, Belgium, Denmark, Finland and Holland put together, although the total population of these five countries is three times larger."

"These figures provide undeniable proof of the superiority and success of our Socialist economy. The Third Five-Year Plan which is now being prepared will enlarge our achievements still further."

Experts point out that Czech prosperity is based on the fact that it is the arsenal of the Communist world and not on its "Socialist" title and government.

Obviously Chairman Khrushchev's charitable instincts do not lead him to creating a WPA gun-making project just to keep the Czechs happy and well fed.

The vast Czech "old fashioned" gun production is Khrushchev's showcase. Soviet agents, tour the world offering such weapons to all possible Castros and to leaders of new governments in Africa.

Czech guns soon will be on their way to Cuba. Czech guns are being infiltrated into the Congo. Czech guns are being promised to groups in Argentina, Brazil and Central America.

Chairman Khrushchev will not toy with the atom and H-bomb. He reckons he can take care of the United States with some old-fashioned revolutions armed in an old-fashioned way. We had better look carefully around us.

Don't put too much faith in the rosy progress reports put out by the St. Lawrence Seaway agencies of the United States and Canada.

The two groups recently claimed that 1960 tonnage was running ahead of 1959. What they didn't say was that, as in 1959, this year's results are going to fall short of expectations.

That means the second full year of St. Lawrence Seaway operations will have to be written off as another inconclusive shipping season.

It is because of this that Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.), author of the basic seaway law, has called on the Commerce Department to rush through studies showing how seaway business can get a needed shot in the arm.

THE PORT of Milwaukee, for example, instead of having cargo backed up, there is a "comfortable operation."

The threat of a stevedore strike has discouraged marginal traffic, cost Milwaukee 50,000 tons.

Harry C. Brockel, Milwaukee's port director and a member of the St. Lawrence Seaway Advisory Board, says he is an "incurable optimist" about the seaway, claims the waterway has a "great mission."

He notes that Moore-McCormack lines, going into seaway operation for the first time, will put three voyages through Milwaukee this year.

Its Mormac Pride left the seaway recently with the largest cement mill in the world, bound for Necochea, Argentina. It will return about October for a new cargo.

SEAWAY EXPERTS already say that a sharp drop in steel production and the threat of a stevedore strike have thrown all optimistic predictions to the winds.

In addition, the hostility of the Castro regime in Cuba has crippled traffic into the Caribbean area from the Great Lakes.

Last year terrible weather, delays attributable to first-year jitters and inexperience shortened the shipping season and caused both tonnage and revenue to fall short of expectations, though they represented great increases over the past.

Only mild weather, good business conditions, world peace and "good, honest promotion," as one expert put it, can produce optimum seaway performance.

The Federal Maritime Board has permitted the Grace Lines to give up its Seaway-Caribbean run and has ordered a new probe to see if this route warrants continued federal subsidies.

Informed persons claim Grace's troubles can be traced to Fidel Castro, the use of wrong ships in the trade and a change of company management, rather than to the seaway itself.

THEY SAY, for example, that where 154 hours of delay were evident at this time last year, this year the figure is 54, and that ships are locking through the seaway in from 15 to 20 minutes.

However, steel production is down to 30 per cent of capacity, and that hurts.

While the Welland Canal operation has been a lot smoother, at

Public Opinion Polls

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Reliability Depends Upon Scientific Sample

Public opinion polls are in the news again and, of course, are getting the usual criticism — depending on whether the results show one's own candidate ahead or behind.

There is, to be sure, no perfect poll — unless it's the one the whole electorate participates in on election day. But polls do serve a useful purpose — they stimulate public interest in campaigns and make the apparently losing side work harder.

The real trouble with the polls in a presidential year is that to take a really comprehensive one costs too much money. The perfect pre-election poll would have to be taken not only in every state of the Union but in every section of every state.

For, fortunately or unfortunately, the election isn't decided by popular vote. Presidents have been elected who didn't have a majority of the popular vote but won a majority of the electoral votes.

Thus, what possible good is it to show a poll in a given town in one end of the state unless a poll is taken on the other end?

Is it significant also if the rural areas are mixed in with the urban areas?

How can one tell how an election is going if the farmers who are discontented in Iowa are lumped in with the contented farmers of western New York, and yet this is presented as a poll of farmers?

THE BRITISH experience with polls in the last parliamentary election was interesting. The Socialist Laborites outnumbered the Conservatives, according to all pre-election estimates, yet it turned out that the Conservatives won the election.

What went wrong with the polls? The pollsters didn't eliminate those who weren't going to vote but who nevertheless stated a preference in the advance poll.

Sometimes the stay-at-home vote can be as decisive as the vote at the polls.

Then comes the question of how to make up a sample. Scientific methods have been used and many improvements made in the technique. Certainly a person who isn't eligible to vote should be excluded. Also someone who says he doesn't intend to vote for either candidate ought to be put in a separate category.

An "undecided" voter may simply be a reticent individual who doesn't trust the pollster and fears he may repeat to some neighbor an answer given to a question.

The Gallup poll is the most scientific devised as yet but it too suffers from the fact that for reasons of expense it has to divide the country by regions. Yet presidential elections are decided by states and not by regions.

Even the South has sometimes contradicted its own historic pattern and so has the West.

THEN WHY have the Gallup Polls, for instance, turned out to be right so many times? Because, when there is a sweep or landslide, a pre-election poll taken on a regional or a national basis is by coincidence likely to have caught the actual trend.

If there's to be a landslide, most of the polls will have indicated a victor. It's only when the elections are close that the polls are likely to be wrong. This happened in 1948, when a switch of less than 60,000 votes would have turned the whole result in the electoral college upside down and given Dewey the victory.

Notwithstanding these mishaps in polls, the people like to read about them. Many newspapers conduct them. Some are more scientifically prepared than others but, generally speaking, they constitute an honest attempt to find out what is likely to happen before it happens.

The real difficulty with polls is that most of those who make them don't understand how to set up a scientific sample.

Much research is conducted every day and millions of dollars are spent every week by commercial organizations trying to find out what the public thinks about a product — as, for instance, to determine what kind of a car to build. But it doesn't do much good to interview the owner of an old Chevrolet as to what he thinks of the power steering in a Cadillac. Nor does it help to interview a teetotaler as to what he thinks of Scotch versus bourbon. There has to be a systematic elimination of certain answers.

IN POLITICS it doesn't help much to ask someone who voted four years ago for one ticket whether he will switch this year. For the voter in question may be whimsical and without conviction.

It matters more if in a wheat area where normally a large Republican vote is cast the voters say they will vote Democratic. It matters also whether, in a prosperous urban community, those who voted one way during the 1938 depression now say they'll vote the other way.

Maybe the problem of the pollster in 1960 is best illustrated by the following conversation this correspondent recently had with a devout Presbyterian friend:

"Who are you going to vote for this time?" I asked.

"Well, I certainly wouldn't vote for Kennedy, as he's a Catholic," was the reply. Then there was a pause, and he added: "But I'll tell you what — if Nixon were a Catholic, I'd still vote for him."

One wonders how the pollsters would classify that voter.

Modern Executive

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The average man today doesn't want to be a boss.

Ask him why, and he will probably say: "Too much responsibility, too many ulcers. You never get the job off your mind. It kills you young. I'd rather have less pay, less worry—and live longer."

This picture of the modern business executive as a harried, ulcer-ridden, tension-ridden individual who works around the clock and succumbs early from a heart attack has become as much a part of popular folklore as Cinderella or Little Red Riding Hood.

Bosses have done little to dispel this highly fictional portrait of themselves. After all, it flatters them and impresses the public. Why quarrel with it?

But what is the actual truth about American industrial leaders? Are they really dollar-mad robots who wreck their lives blindly slaving for a corporation god?

No, indeed! Not by their own testimony.

A recent issue of U.S. News & World Report carried some results of a poll of 6,000 U.S. executives made by Dr. Harry J. Johnson, head of the Life Extension Foundation.

Dr. Johnson found:

The next time anyone offers you a $50,000-a-year executive post, don't shrug him off like an ingrate. Accept his offer.

The hours are short, the fringe benefits are wonderful, you'll live just as long—and think how much fun your wife can have spending all that money!

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Mother died when I was 13. At 17 I left home (as did my two brothers) to get away from my father who is an opinionated, bigoted tyrant. We all hated him.

Today I am married to a man I adore. We have three children, a barn of a house that we love and no bills we can't handle with an extra 60 days. We were blissfully happy until last week.

Dad has a lovely home in Texas and is rolling in money. He wrote to tell me he sold his home and has contacted an agent to find a house as close to ours as possible.

If he had written to say he was moving in with me I would know what to say—but how can I tell him I don't want him in our city? Don't tell me to invite him over one night a week. I can't stand him three nights a year.

When he visited us last year my husband "worked late" almost every night to escape his constant yakking. The only way I could escape was to go to the bathroom. Then he'd stand outside the door and continue to talk.

He has no friends here and no interests. Of course he has no friends in Texas either but I know he'll expect to tag along with us.

The thought of telling him he's not wanted makes me sick but the thought of having him around makes me sicker. What shall I do?—E.J.

Dear E.J.: Draw the lines early and firmly. Tell him you have a full schedule and heavy demands and when you have time to spend with him, you'll let him know.

The first time he drops in uninvited, tell him you're just leaving—then leave. You can always go to the grocery.

The ideal solution would be to introduce him to a nice widow—preferably dead.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FALL PROVES FATAL

WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — George Thomas Greve, 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greve of Rt. 1, Botkins (Shelby County), was fatally injured Monday when he fell and fractured his skull on the concrete approach to the garage at his home.

Salineville Wins Suit to Halt Mine Operations There

LISBON — In a lengthy legal opinion Monday afternoon, Judge Raymond S. Buzzard ruled against the plaintiff, J. B. Hall, against the Village of Salineville.

Mr. Hall and Ralph W. McBane had 101.24 acres of land adjoining Salineville which they leased to W. J. Moore and Son Coal Co., to take coal off the land of which 46.204 acres are within the village limits.

On Feb. 4, 1946, the village passed an ordinance that no strip-mining could be done within the village of Salineville. On Oct. 26, 1959 they passed an ordinance that no coal mining could be done in any manner within the village.

Moore and son had started to auger the No. 7 coal out which they claimed was not strip-mining and had started before the passage Oct. 26 and asked for a declaratory judgment against the village of Salineville.

In handing down his opinion Judge Buzzard ruled that "Council didn't act arbitrarily or unreasonably, nor does the court find that these ordinances permit taking of the plaintiff's property within due process of law" and he found the two ordinances were reasonable and not arbitrary and are proper exercises of the police power of the village and ruled in favor of the village.

Trimble St. Vacation Rejected by Council

The proposed vacation of Trimble St., from Homewood Ave. east, failed to pass a City Council vote last night, missing the needed majority by one vote.

Voting against the vacation, which has been a controversial issue during the last two months, were Councilmen Fred Koenreich, Carl Abe, Albert Lesch and Donald Cannon. In favor were Councilmen Harold Asty, Ralph Zimmerman and Arthur Hanna.

In opposing the issue, Councilman Koenreich said he felt the closing of the street would be the beginning of a perpetual neighborhood quarrel over rights-of-way.

He said the property now in possession of the city would probably end up in the hands of abutting property owners, with easement granted to those cut off from a public thoroughfare. He said this would lead to somebody's improved portion of the vacation being trod upon by the easement holder and result in trouble.

Councilmen Hanna and Asty stated that they felt the easement was sufficient to protect the property owners along the street, giving them permanent access to their properties.

In past weeks, residents of the area have both opposed and favored the vacation.

Last night's reading was the third or the final one which, if passed, would have made the vacation law.

In other action last night Council passed a resolution, submitted by Councilman Abe, recognizing Labor and Labor Day on Sept. 5.

Nurses Score High In State Testing

Students at Salem Hannah E. Mulling School of Practical Nursing have made scores in a State-Authorized examination, which placed the school in the upper quarter in scoring of all the practical nursing schools participating in the test.

At a meeting of the Salem school advisory committee Monday night, Mrs. E. R. Durand, director, revealed that the average score made by the 532 candidates in 19 schools in Ohio was 33.6. The average score of the last Salem group of students taking the test was 56.7.

There has been a steady and rapid rise in scores throughout the state, and in the Salem school in recent years," Mrs. Durand reported.

10 Countains Inducted Into Armed Forces

Ten county men left by bus Tuesday afternoon from the Columbiana County Draft Board at Lisbon for induction into the armed services at Cleveland today.

Two of the county's quota of 12 transferred out.

Sixteen men also left for pre-induction physicals today, according to Elaine Griffith, board clerk.

Inducted were: John Carlton Dillon, RD 5, Leland Arthur Jeffries, 1299 S. Lincoln Ave., Charles William Rogers, RD 1, and Gary Ronald Hutton, 993 Arch St., Salem.

Paul Thomas Cooper and Clarence George Adams, East Liverpool; Gerald Eugene Bishop and William Johnson, Wellsville.

Thomas Stanley Chestnut, RD 4, and Robert William Helman, 226 E. Chestnut St., Lisbon.

Construction Worker Mysteriously Wounded

A 39-year-old construction worker was treated at the Central Clinic Tuesday for a wound of doubtful cause.

The wound at first was believed to have been inflicted by a bullet, but Police Chief Martin Lutsch said the victim, Milan H. Miles of 207 Jennings Ave., may have been struck by a piece of metal from a welding operation.

The mishap occurred at 2:50 p.m. while Miles was working on the roof replacement project at the E. W. Bliss Co. The missile penetrated the back of his neck. The attending doctor at the Clinic reported that it might have been a gunshot wound.

Chief Lutsch said reports that his department had apprehended several young boys in connection with the "shooting" were unfounded. He said a thorough investigation of circumstances surrounding the incident showed that it was not a deliberate or mischievous attack.

TWO FINED IN LISBON

LISBON—Two county men were fined a total of $15 and costs Tuesday by County Judge James L. MacDonald for speeding.

Augustus A. Baumgarner, 39, of MC 22, East Liverpool, was fined $10, and Ronald E. Mowery, 30, of 316 E. Washington St., Lisbon, $5. They were cited by state highway patrolmen.

tion of the 58-20 gauge shotgun. Other than that weapon, Johnson was unarmed.

In his statement to police, Johnson said he had not seen Firman for two days. He said he and Firman were to have rendezvoused in western Pennsylvania Monday night but that Firman didn't show up.

More Than One Pistol

He said he knows that Firman is carrying more than one pistol but declared he knew nothing of a shotgun the fugitive reportedly possesses.

The shotgun was supposedly seen by a resident of the Richmond-Steubenville area Tuesday afternoon when Firman was spotted leaving a car, carrying a "big gun" and heading into a wooded area. He was not seen coming out.

Police said they believe Firman got to the Richmond area by using a stolen Pontiac with Pennsylvania license plates. The plates reportedly were taken from a car parked at the Gaughns service station at Rt. 14 and 7, near East Palestine. The Pontiac was found on the roadway near Richmond.

Find Third Auto

Police reported this morning that a third car, a 1955 Ford, had been parked in the Gaughns parking lot Monday. The pair had offered $10 to an attendant to allow them to park the car there for one week. Police surmised that it was probably placed there as an emergency get-away car.

The stolen Chrysler and the Pontiac were taken from dealers' garages in Amsterdam and Col. Leggett, Pa., police said. The Ford and the Chrysler are being held by Salem police as evidence. The Pontiac is being held by Jefferson County authorities.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were here early this morning questioning Johnson as a fugitive from justice.

Swimming at Centennial Park

Although this part of his statement has not been confirmed, Johnson claims he spent some part of yesterday afternoon swimming at Centennial Park.

Bloodhounds owned by Robert Grim of East Palestine are being utilized in the hunt for Firman. Tuesday he had sent his son, William, and the dogs to aid in the search at Wintersville and today the bloodhounds at the Toronto location.

In the search of the Southeast section last night, Sheriff's deputy Howard Gray and Chief Martin Lutsch attempted to lure Firman out of his suspected hiding place in the Grandview Cemetery area by cruising the vicinity in the Chrysler. Gray wore Johnson's cap and drove the car while Chief Lutsch hid in the back seat.

Firman and Johnson fled from the Coshocton County jail July 26 and Johnson was recaptured Aug. 7. Firman returned to the jail last Wednesday night and forced a deputy at gunpoint to release Johnson. Shortly after they left the jail the two were reported to have robbed the City Auto Co. at Uhrichsville of $180.

Got $200 in Holdup

Monday two men answering the description of the pair got $200 in a holdup at the Kitty Kat Cafe on Ohio 7 a mile north of Steubenville. They were armed with a pistol and a shotgun.

Authorities in Steubenville thought for a time last Tuesday that they had Firman cornered in a heavily wooded area just northwest of the city. However, more than 100 officers—including police, FBI agents, state highway patrolmen and sheriff's deputies—were unable to find a trace of him in several hours of beating through the brush of the hilly terrain. The sheriff's office said the search there would be continued today.

Income Tax

ary not to exceed $3,000, and additional fee to be paid not more than $1.50 per hour and not more than $1,000 per year.

An ordinance authorizing the issuance of a note in the amount of $25,000 for the purpose of paying the cost of installing the tax system and for capital improvements and for operating the general fund.

An ordinance appropriating $16,500 for materials, office furniture, salaries of personnel and fees for the tax consultant.

Spoke Against Ordinance

Although about six persons were present at the special meeting, only one spoke in opposition to the tax. He was Matt Melitschka Jr. of Sharp Ave. who claimed the imposition of the tax would hurt the city's campaign to gain new industries.

The income tax issue has been a hot one in Salem for almost a year. An ordinance was introduced in December of last year and passed its second reading before Jan. 1 but was then held up while an income tax study committee, appointed by the Chamber of Commerce and Mayor Dean Cranmer, investigated the city's need for a tax.

Early this year, the committee released a report on its findings which showed it did not favor the tax proposal or any income tax.

Proposed Higher Tax

The old proposal, since abandoned, would have levied a tax of six tenths of one per cent on all city earnings, with the yield allocated for specific purposes including storm drains, traffic controls, street lighting and operation of a sanitary landfill among other things.

The tax enacted last night states only that 60 per cent of the yield will go into the general fund and the remaining 40 per cent for capital improvements. The obsolete proposal also called for a one-year levy while the present one runs for 15 months.

The tax problem was brought on by rapidly diminishing balances in the general fund. It was pointed out that by the close of the present year, the general fund would be on a deficit spending program without an income tax. In the last few years a generous balance in the $60,000 range has been eaten up by increased expenses in the fund and diminishing real estate tax returns.

Several times this year, Council has found it necessary to borrow money to meet general fund payrolls and due bills are piling up in the auditor's office.

following slate of 1961 officers: Robert Powers, first vice president; Tracy C. Powell, second vice president; and Willard Ferrall, Stan Yeager and Rev. H. J. Scheldemantle, directors.

Previous to the balloting, members approved an amendment to the bylaws to provide for the new office of second vice president. The president announced cancellation of plans for a swimming party next Monday night, because of a conflict with a regular meeting of the board of directors.

ABOUT 160 Columbiana County foster children and foster parents were entertained by the Rotary Club at their annual outing Monday evening at Firestone Park.

Dale Young was general chairman for the event, assisted by Ed Dillon, Jack Lindsay, Charles Wright, Sam Lindsay Jr., Robert Bertelsen, Fred Detwiler, D. W. Bailey, Rich Berryman and John Barrow.

The sixth annual Firestone Park pool Aquade, free for the public, will be staged tonight, starting at 8, under the direction of Misses Suzanne Nelson and Polly Way. The synchronized swimming show is developed around the theme of "The Enchanted Sea."

A routine meeting of the Village Planning Commission will be held Thursday night in the mayor's office.

Senate

After rejecting the Social Security approach to medical care for the aged, the Senate Tuesday night passed 91-2 and sent to conference with the House a limited bill dealing with this problem. The only opposing votes came from Sens. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) and Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.).

The provision of the bill on this point would beef up federal grants to the states to pay medical bills of needy persons on old age assistance or with incomes which just keep them off the relief rolls but are inadequate to meet health costs.

The Senate version of the legislation follows the lines of the House bill on medical payments, but contains more liberal grant formulas. Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.), author of the Senate language, said he believed the House would accept it.

Only one Republican, Sen. Clifford P. Case (NJ), plus 43 Democrats supported the Kennedy-backed Social Security plan. Thirty-two Republicans and 19 Democrats were opposed.

Also beaten 67-28 was a broad Republican health insurance protection plan for the elderly. This was backed by the Republican presidential nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Not a single Democrat voted for it. Five Republicans and 62 Democrats said no.

2 Salem Clubs Lose In Invitational Softball Openers

Scott's Candy, Salem A.C. Fall

Fine Pitching Highlights Action; 3 Games Slated Tonight at Kelley

Outstanding pitching highlighted opening night of the Salem Invitational Softball Tournament Tuesday at Kelley Field which saw two Salem teams and one from Fairfield, Pa., suffer tough setbacks. Salem Scott's Candy collected only two hits and was set down, 2-0, by Cuyahoga Falls McGowan-Reid Funeral Home; defending champion Akron Reds Bar edged Salem A.C., 3-1; and Youngstown Cliff Fisher Really got just one hit but trimmed Farrell 7-Up, 1-0.

Scott's, Salem A.C. and Farrell 7-Up all drop into the losers bracket of the double elimination tourney. JIM MYERS TOSSED a two-hitter and fanned nine for Cuyahoga Falls in its 2-0 win over Scott's Candy. Cuyahoga Falls managed only six hits off loser Joe Murphy but three of them came in the first inning when McGowan-Reid sent home what proved to be the only run it needed. Reds Bar tallied a run in the fourth and two more in the fifth to overcome a 1-0 Salem A.C. lead. The Salem club had taken the lead in the third inning when a single by Wayne Hahn, an error, a fielders choice and a clutch single by Stanley went home the first run of the game. Jim Stonemetz was the losing pitcher for Salem. He gave up nine hits and fanned only one. Salem A.C. collected six hits off Zeigler, including a pair of singles by Stanley.

IN THE BEST pitched game of the evening, a total of only three hits were recorded as Cliff Fisher Really nipped Farrell 7-Up, 1-0. The Youngstown team use, its

Dispute Results In Umpires Assoc. Dropping Tourney

Due to a dispute between Dave Briskin, executive secretary of the Salem Softball Association, and members of the Salem Umpires Association, the local umpires group is not officiating at the Invitational Softball Tournament which opened Tuesday at Kelley Field. Briskin reportedly refused to accept two of the umpires whom the SUA had planned to use at some of the games. Bob Conroy, secretary of the SUA commented, "The two men in question are both qualified Amateur Softball Association umpires. Due to the discriminatory action by David Briskin, the Salem Umpires Association is not authorizing any of its umpires to work the tournament games." Tom Nedelka and Torch Nedelka umpired the three tournament games last night. Both are members of the SUA. Conroy said the Nedelkas are officiating the games on their own and not under the authorization of the SUA.

Squad Boasts 12 Lettermen

Added Beef, Experience Point To Better Season for Columbiana

The Columbiana Clippers, who haven't won a Tri-County League football championship since 1936, aren't boasting that they will subdue everything in sight in 1960, but with 12 lettermen returning Coach George Fisher believes his squad will be able to improve its 3-7 record of last year. The scrappy Clippers had one of the lightest teams in the school's history last year. The 167-pound average of the 45-man squad may not seem too impressive but compared to last year's squad, some of the 1960 gridders are real monsters. In 1959, Columbiana didn't have a player who weighed as much as 190 pounds. This year the Clippers have four boys who go at 200 pounds or better. They are Dave Scott, 210, senior; Larry Mankin, 200 freshman; Dave Donbar, 210 junior; and Ken Mahler, 200 sophomore. Mahler is a center while Coach Fisher is trying the other three at tackle.

Coach George Fisher

KINGPINS OF the 1960 squad are expected to be four seniors who are already two-year letter-winners. They are center Don Culp, 165; quarterback Paul Murphy, 165; fullback Gary Perkins, 175; and halfback Gary Spratt, 150. Besides the four two-year letter winners, there are eight boys who won their first varsity awards last year. These gridders are Bob Budd, 150 senior center; Dave Garrod, 135 junior end; Rich Harrold, 165 senior end; Bob Johnson, 170 sophomore guard; Rich Kyser, 130 senior halfback; Dale Murphy, 180 sophomore fullback; Gary Thompson, 140 senior guard; and Don Williamson, 170 senior tackle. This means that the Clippers

STARTING QUAKER BACKFIELD—Salem High grid coach Blaine Morton has repeatedly emphasized to his players that they must prove themselves in practice if they are going to make the starting lineup this year, but four men who saw considerable varsity action last season right now appear to be in line for starting backfield berths. They are (l. to r.) Quarterback Gary Devan, Halfback Chuck Hertel, Halfback John Delfavero and Fullback Ron Janovec. Janovec was the only one of the four who was a regular last season. He played linebacker on defense. The Quakers have scheduled their first scrimmage at Reilly Stadium for 10 a.m. Saturday against Coach Bill Van Brocklin's Poland Bulldogs. Salem opens its regular season on Sept. 9 at home against Akron Hoban.

17th Olympiad Opens Thursday

Red Athletes Attend Audience With Pope

By JERRY LISKA Associated Press Sports Writer ROME (AP)—Amid tranquility which even sent 10 Communist athletes to a special audience by Pope John, this ancient, storied city was poised today for the start of the 17th Olympiad Thursday. The papal audience for all Olympic athletes and officials in St. Peter's Square just precedes the arrival of the Olympic torch from Greece. At City Hall, the torch will be set in a tripod, remaining lit until the reiradett ohyi mIosep c Sta it is carried to the Olympic Stadium for the official opening of the games. A pro-Communist newspaper, Paese Sera, disclosed Soviet PPreier Nikita Khrushchev sent an Olympic message to Rome, to be delivered by the Soviet embassy to the Italian games organizers shortly before today's papal audience. The newspaper said as a result of Khrushchev's message, confirming a "spirit of brotherhood," that 10 of the Soviet Union's 400-member athletic delegation would attend the audience by the head of the Catholic Church. After the opening ceremonies before an expected 100,000 in the Olympic Stadium, the games proper will start with eliminations in boxing and water polo Thursday night. On Friday, seven more sports will move into action. But the kingpin of the games, track and field, does not start until next Wednesday and the last of the 18 sports to be contested, equestrian, gymnastics, weightlifting and shooting do not begin until the week of Sept. 4. Favorable weather was predicted for the opening ceremony which will see 4,000 of the total 8,000 athletes from 85 nations parading under the late afternoon sun. The parading group was restricted because of space limitations in the white new Olympic Stadium. The International Olympic Committee Tuesday cleared its decks for the start of the games by unanimously re-electing Chicago's Avery Brundage, 72, for another four-year term as president. The wealthy hotel man, already president for eight years, thus defeated a reported move to unseat him. The reelection meant a vote of confidence for the austere amateurism preached by Brundage, if not practiced to his wishes, throughout the world.

HORSE SHOW CALED The area's only all-weather junior horse show will be held again this year at the Harvest Home celebration at 1 p.m. Saturday in Transfer Pa. located midway between Greenville and Sharon just off Rt. 18. The horse show is for amateur riders 21 years and under. The public is invited to attend the show free of charge.

Merchants to Host Liverpool Tonight

The Salem Merchants and the East Liverpool Cox Merchants are slated to open a best-of-five game series at Centennial Park tonight for the County-City Baseball League playoff championship. The series was originally scheduled to open Tuesday night in East Liverpool but the Cox Merchants were taking part in another tournament and asked for a postponement of their fray with Salem. East Liverpool, the regular season champ advanced to the playoff finals by taking two straight games from third place Lawrenceville. Salem made the finals when fourth place Chippewa Pa. forfeited a pair of games. Salem and Lawrenceville tied for second place during the regular season but the locals were given the runner-up spot after the toss of a coin.

POTTERS SEEK SCRIMMAGE East Liverpool football coach Lou Venditti is seeking a scrimmage game for Saturday between his Potters and an area high school team. Interested coaches may contact Venditti at Patterson Field, Fulton 5-5809 or at his home.

to 29 innings with his third straight shutout, a seven-hit, 7-0 breeze at Los Angeles Tuesday night as the second place Braves belted Dodger pitching for five home runs. It was the Braves' sixth success in seven games, but left them 6 1/2 games behind Pittsburgh. The Pirates rapped Chicago's Cubs 8-3. Third-place St. Louis, eight games back, beat Philadelphia 4-2. San Francisco smacked Cincinnati 6-1. Burdette, matching roommate Warren Spahn's 15-7 record, struck out four and didn't walk a man while winning his sixth in a row at the Los Angeles Coliseum. Mel Roach (No. 3), Al Dark (No. 4), Hank Aaron (No. 33, Ed Mathews (No. 20) and Johnny Logan (No. 5) wallpored the homers for the Braves, all with the bases empty.

The Pirates were shut out on six innings by Dick Ellsworth (6-10), then came from behind against the Cub lefty with four runs in the seventh. A bases-loaded walk, Dick Groat's two-run single and an infield out brought the run home. Harvey Haddix (9-7) was the winner, with saving relief by Elroy Face. The Cardinals backed rookie Ray Sadecki (7-7) with a two-run single by Hal Smith in the second inning, and a clinching, two-run homer by Walt Moryn in the sixth. Jack Sanford, 0-3 in his last five starts, beat the Reds with a five-hitter for a 10-11 record. Norris Says He'll Attend Fight Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP)—Promoter James D. Norris has denied a charge that he is hiding out in Europe to avoid testifying in the Senate boxing hearings. He says he will be on hand for the hearing tentatively set for Oct. 18. The evasion accusation came Tuesday from Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn), chairman of the Senate Antitrust and Monopoly subcommittee. He said Norris had failed to acknowledge receipt of two messages asking him to return to this country to testify. Norris, reached by the Associated Press in Paris, said he had planned his European vacation for many weeks. "Certainly, I have no intention of avoiding the Senate hearing and will return long before that," Norris said. Norris is a former president of the International Boxing Club. The Kefauver subcommittee is looking into the club's activities in its hunt for evidence that mobsters have exerted monopolistic control over professional boxing.

Mike de la Hoz Bats in Clincher; John Temple Benched by Dykes

BOSTON (AP)—Cleveland second baseman Johnny Temple was benched by Manager Jimmie Dykes in a three-game series between the Indians and the Boston Red Sox.

"I've been lousy and nobody knows it better than I do," Temple said when told that he would not be in the lineup. His .270 batting average is 41 points lower than it was at Cincinnati last year. "I can't believe that a player can go back so far in one year," Temple said. "I've never gone through a season like this and I hope I never do again."

2 Changes Announced In Class G Lineup

Two personnel changes have been announced for the Class G Hot Shoe League All-Star squad which will meet loop champion Knights of Columbus Sunday at Centennial Park.

Ray McNutt of the Fire Department team has been named to replace teammate Scott Thompson who is on vacation and Dave Roberts of the Italian Club will fill in for Scott Thayer who is recovering from a recent appendectomy. Thayer played for the Italian Club during the regular season. The All-Star game Sunday is slated to get underway at 6 p.m.

"Twice I've gone up to .290 and have slipped back both times. I can't figure it out. One thing, I'm not getting any lucky hits. I have to work for 'em."

The Indians won the series opener, 3-2, with a 10th inning double by rookie Mike de la Hoz driving in the winning run. Jim Grant, who also had hit a double and became the winning pitcher in relief. The victory broke a four-game losing streak for the Indians.

Grant (8-5) had pitched four scoreless innings after relieving starter Bobby Locke, but was removed in the 10th after Ted Williams singled and Pumpsie Green walked with two out. He was relieved by Johnny Klippstein, who got Russ Nixon to hit a pop fly for the third out.

Cleveland collected 14 hits—with Jim Piersall, Tito Francona and de la Hoz having three each—but left 15 runners stranded for the second game in a row.

Boston broke on top with a run in the third inning. Pitcher Billy Muffett led off with a double, took third on an infield out and was waved home on a balk by Locke. Vic Wertz' 430-foot home run in the fourth—his 16th of the year—gave the Red Sox a 2-0 lead.

Cleveland rallied to tie the score in the sixth. Francona led off with his second double of the night and scored on a single by Bubba Phillips. John Romano's bloop single sent Phillips to third and he scored on Ken Aspromonte's ground out.

Barry Latman is scheduled to pitch for the Indians tonight, opposed by Tom Brewer.

Lightweights Tangle in TV Fight Tonight

CHICAGO (AP)—Substitute LeRoy Jeffery and Gene Grehm, a couple of lightweights from Detroit, tangle tonight in a 10-round Chicago Stadium bout.

Jeffery, 24, is taking the place of Doug Vaillant, the No. 10 contender who was declared ill and unavailable Tuesday by Dr. Irving E. Slott of the Illinois Athletic Commission.

The fight will be televised (9 p.m. EST-ABC) and scored under the five-point must system.

Gresham, 22, is ranked ninth by the National Boxing Assn. He won the National AAU lightweight title in 1957 and has a 25-1-1 record since turning professional. His only loss came in February of 1959 when he was knocked out by Candy McFarland.

Jeffery has won 18 of his 20 pro fights, 15 by knockouts.

Wynn Gets Dusted; Beats Yankees, 5-1

By The Associated Press
Now that Early Wynn has cut the New York Yankees down to size, the next step is to knock 'em flat.

The 40-year-old right-hander, a tough guy with a brushback pitch, promised to do just that after he pitched the second-place Chicago White Sox to a 5-1 victory over New York and trimmed the Yankees' American League lead to a half-game Tuesday night.

What got Wynn riled was a ninth-inning pitch by Yankee reliever Jim Coates that just missed his head. Wynn made for the mound, bat in hand, before teammates and the umpires checked his charge.

"Sure it was a beanball," Wynn said afterward, "and someday I'm going to get all nine of 'em (the Yankees)."

With Wynn, a first-inning replacement for Billy Pierce in a switch that led the Yanks to protest the game, putting away the 28th victory of his career, the Sox took over sole possession of second place. The hot-running Detroit Tigers knocked Baltimore to third, 1½ games behind, by beating the Orioles 5-3 in 11 innings. Washington defeated Kansas City 3-1 and Cleveland edged Boston 3-2 in 10 innings.

Wynn, now 10-8 with his third straight victory, allowed only four hits and faced the minimum 14 men over the last 4-2-3 innings after giving up a fifth-inning home run by losing pitcher Eli Grba (3-2). It was Grba's first in the majors, and ended Wynn's shut-out string at 16 innings.

Manager Al Lopez brought in Wynn to replace Pierce, who made a couple of warm up tosses, but didn't pitch to a batter. The Sox lefty had pulled a muscle in a pre-game warm up. The Yankees protested, saying the rules state a pitcher must face one man, unless injured.

The Tigers made it seven in a row, their longest winning streak since 1956, when Charlie Maxwell tagged losing reliever Wes Stock (2-2) for a two-run homer in the 11th. Detroit had tied it with two in the ninth on singles by Maxwell and Rocky Colavito and a double by Al Kaline. Bill Fischer (6-6) was the winner.

Washington retained fourth place on a two-run homer by Harmon Killebrew and an inside-the-park home run by Reno Bertoia that backed southpaw Jack Kralick, who won his fifth.

Jerry Lucas, Olympic Cager, Bruises Foot

ROME (AP)—Jerry Lucas, All-America from Ohio State, is limping from a slight foot bruise but is not seriously hurt, say head coach Pete Newell of the U. S. Olympic basketball team. Lucas was kept out of an exhibition game against Spain at Bern, Switzerland, Monday night the U. S. won 91-59—because Newell didn't want him to play on the concrete floor there. "He'll be okay when we get on wood again," said Newell.

The Detroit Lions claim the hottest coach in football, Les Bingaman, the former Lions star who joined the coaching staff for the 1960 season, weighs 330 pounds.

Hamilton Captures Ohio Amateur Softball Crown

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — The pitching of Wad Fannin and a little hitting help from teammates has brought Hamilton's Champion Paper team the Ohio Amateur Softball Association championship.

Fannin, his hands blistered after five games in five days, pitched a no-hitter Tuesday night in the 1-0 title victory over Dayton's National Register team.

A crowd of 7,000 watched a single, a sacrifice and Dave Blower's double provide the game's only run in the fourth.

Hamilton was undefeated in the double-elimination tournament. Dayton won its way to the finals with a 1-0 victory in 11 innings over the defending champion, Woods Plumbing of Columbus.

Hamilton qualified for the regional tournament at Wyandotte, Mich., Sept. 2-5.

Ohio's Hunters, Trappers Must Get Licenses by Sept. 1

Ohio hunters and trappers will need new licenses on September 1. About 600,000 were mailed to license agents throughout Ohio by mid August, reports Harry West, chief, Accounting and Budgeting Section Ohio Department of Natural Resources.

The new 1960 license will be required for the opening date of the fall and game hunting season. Cost of the resident license is $2.25 including a 25-cent issuing fee. A non-resident license sells for $15.25 including the issuing fee.

Hunters regardless of age with a few exceptions must possess licenses. The state law permits landowners and their children to hunt and trap without licenses on lands owned by them. Also exempt are farm managers tenants and their children while hunting on land that they manage and on which they reside.

Members of the armed forces on active duty or on leave from active duty are also exempt. They must have necessary military credentials in their possession however. A child under 16 must be accompanied by an adult while hunting.

West disclosed that close to 675,000 hunting and trapping licenses were sold during 1959 about the same as for 1958. Hunting license sales are holding up in contrast to fishing license sales which have declined during the past year. "Be sure to have a license if you hunt after September 1" say Division of Wildlife personnel.

Bulldogs Seek 5th Straight Tri-County Title

Injuries Make Rebuilding Job At East Palestine More Difficult

It looks as though the law of averages is already trying to catch up with the East Palestine High football team and the season opener is still more than three weeks away.

The Bulldogs have dominated Tri-County League football since 1956, racking up four straight championships.

However, this year's team was hit hard by graduation losses and to make things worse, its star fullback was hospitalized with a serious eye injury on the opening day of practice and on Monday, two other prospects were hurt in an auto accident.

Jim Wisser, a senior and co-captain of the 1959 squad, caught either an elbow or a knee in the eye during a practice session Friday, causing considerable hemorrhaging. Wisser was taken to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Youngstown and the original report from the examining physician was pessimistic.

DOCTORS NOW SAY that the youth will recover full sight in the eye and should be able to return to football practice in about two weeks. Wisser was to be released from the hospital last night.

The boys injured in the auto accident Monday were Eugene Moss, a back, and Dick Nealis, a line-man. Both boys were badly shaken up in the accident and had to have some stitches worked. They missed practice yesterday but should be ready to go again later this week.

The biggest holes to fill from last year's squad, which lost only to Minerva in 10 games, are those left by All-Ohio tackle Chuck Robinson, speedy halfback George Morris and a clever little quarterback by the name of Willis Woods. Also lost was the entire center of the line.

On the bright side, Coach Howard Weyers has two experienced ends in Jim Massey, a co-captain and Mike Lemley. Both are senior letterwinners. Other letterwinners include quarterback Jack Istnick and halfbacks Jerry Bush and Willard Leake.

SOME OF THE MOST promising juniors are Guard Pete Klinger, who at 230 pounds is the biggest man on the squad; Fred Hoaglin, 190-pound tackle; Bob Chaplin, a back; and Mike Gillyooly, a tackle.

Coach Weyers and his assistants, Chuck McBride and Don Mc

Coach Howard Weyers

Crigh, are working with a 33-man squad. The team won't be as heavy as last year's powerhouse but Coach Weyers has been impressed by their spirit.

The Bulldogs are scheduled to open their season on Sept. 16 at Beaver, Pa. Tri-County League action will begin the following week when the Bulldogs play at Sebring.

Weyers, who is starting his second season as coach of the Bulldogs, planned to send his boys against Bessemer, Pa., today in their first scrimmage of the year.

The 1960 schedule is as follows:

Hobbycraft built up an 11-3 lead in the first two innings Tuesday night but still needed two runs in the final frame to edge the Jaycees 15-14 in a Class H game played at Reilly Field.

The other Class H fray carded last night between Kresge and Select Dairy was called off because no umpire showed up.

The Jaycees took a 14-13 lead into the bottom of the fifth when a leadoff single by Tom Chamberlain and an error on a ball hit by Kenny Kent sent home the winning run for Hobbycraft.

The losers managed only two hits off three Hobbycraft hurlers who were more generous with base on balls. They put 20 batters on base with walks.

John Lantz poked out a home run in the first inning to highlight an eight-run spurge by Hobbycraft. Kent garnered two singles and a triple for the winners.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Toddlers, teens and the lofty collegian . . . they're all on their way back to school. On these pages will be found the latest shopper news on the things they'll need . . . school supplies, clothing, equipment . . . and home needs to fit the season as well . . . There's special attention for the kindergarten child having his first experience with school . . . and for the university-bound high school graduate, leaving home for the first time.

Students Ready, Reluctantly, For New School Term

"Gee, Ma, do I hafta?"

Here we go again! The school term's started, and Johnny and Jane are trotting off once more for their yearly bout with the three Rs.

They're not alone in their imagined misery. Over 24 million elementary school youngsters are exchanging the carefree days of summer for the discipline of the school year.

For Mom, the house has become so quiet that she can hear the dripping faucet Johnny left on when she sent him back to scrub those ears a second time.

The first day back to school hasn't changed much over the years. Kids have ever been reluctant to end the summer vacation—even though Dad probably won't admit he ever felt that way.

But many changes have been made and many more are planned in the kind of schools and equipment that U. S. children will enjoy this year and in the future.

In many cases, tall, dreary school buildings are being replaced by bright, spacious one-story structures. Filon plastic panels are being used to provide classrooms, gymnasiums and other school areas with soft, evenly-diffused lighting.

One school, recently completed in a Chicago suburb has two outdoor courts—one an amphitheater, the other for dancing during the lunch period.

Although the school is located just across the highway from a large shopping center, there's no difficulty in keeping the students at school during free periods.

There's too much going on they don't want to miss!

We've come a long way, too, in some of the new schools, from bolted-down desks, one behind the other. The furniture can be moved around to suit class needs of the moment.

If Willie wants to pull Mary's pony tail unnoticed, he'll have a hard time doing it, right out there in the open.

Flexible and interchangeable wall-hung teaching aids permit each teacher to tailor physical wall space facilities to meet teaching needs.

While the kids, whether in new schools or old, are being shaped into what we hope will be bright, model citizens, Mom and Dad are budgeting and planning to assure the happy future of their family.

All the new major and small appliances in the American home of today have given Mom the time to concentrate far more on the youngsters' educational welfare than parents did years ago.

Her sincere interest has proved. The PTA, a comparatively small organization at one time, now numbers some 45,500 local associations. Its parent organization, The National Congress of Parents and Teachers, actually works the year round at enrolling parents, teachers, grandparents and anyone else concerned with the welfare of the children who attend school.

All efforts are combined to promote better schools, better communities and adult education programs.

Dad has his work cut out, too, stretching the budget so that it can include higher education for Jane and Johnny.

According to government experts, it will take about $6,600 five years from now for four years at a state college and almost $16,000 at an expensive Ivy League institution.

The most practical plan is long-range saving. However, if you've started to save too late, remember that the National Defense Education Act permits qualified students to borrow up to $1,000 a year, or a maximum of $5,000.

Qualifications are based on the student's grades, need and career interests. So all is not lost.

Remember that a college education is the best investment you can make in your youngster's future.

The latest figures show that college graduates earn on the average almost $125,000 more during their working life than high school graduates.

In strictly dollar-and-cents terms, that's a 20 to 1 return on a $6,000 investment.

But with the kids still a few good years from their mortarboards, Mom has a more imminent worry. Get that refrigerator stacked, before they get home from school.

"I'm hungry" still takes the place of "hello" as a greeting.

"OPERATION PENCIL STUB" — Sue Ballow, 19, sticks her head through a sea of pencils. They were donated by employees at Chance-Vought where Sue works in Dallas, Tex. They'll be turned over to the Dallas school system for use by needy children.

It's Duty of Parents to Help Child Promote Cleanliness

How long since you have visited the school your children attend?

As a conscientious parent and a taxpayer, it's your business to know just how well the neighborhood school tries to protect their health.

The upkeep of a school building

Students Should Keep Shoes Neatly Shined

Believe it or not, shoe shining is now part of a school curriculum.

At the John Barry Junior High School in New York each classroom has a "shoe shine corner," complete with shine box, brushes, cloths, daubers, and a wide assortment of polishes. Boy pupils are required to shine each other's shoe each morning.

The equipment was donated by Irving J. Bottner, once a shoe shine boy himself, now president of a shoe polish firm.

Shoe shining doesn't take the place of the three R's at the school, nor can a lad pass or flunk on the gloss or lack of it on his shoes. However, each classroom teacher inspects the shined shoes.

"Youngsters know about having crease in trousers, combing hair, keeping nails clean and tying the knot carefully," says Miss Mittelman, school principal, "but they don't realize polishing shoes is just as important."

The students enjoy the school innovation, too. It's something they can shine in and there's no home-work.

is the responsibility of the school administration and school board. But, as a parent, you certainly have a vital interest in how clean that building is kept.

What you want to know is:

Are the walls, windows, floors clean?

Are the light fixtures kept clean to provide the maximum amount of light?

Do the washrooms have soap and warm water and towels?

Are the playgrounds and the traffic crossings safe?

Would you want to eat in the school lunchroom?

Parents just can't take these things for granted. A survey has shown that many schools (even big city schools) have only cold water in the washroom—no warm water and no soap.

You've taught your children how important to their health it is to wash their hands after leaving the bathroom and before sitting down to meals.

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis and other health organizations urge these precautions. Such good health habits should be followed at school, too, and you want to be sure the school provides well-equipped washrooms.

Mothers and fathers interested enough to find out the facts can do a lot, either as individuals or through such groups as P.T.A., toward bringing community schools up to a Grade A rating.

It is quite a powerful influence in itself just to let the school administration know that watchful eyes are focused on sanitary conditions.

PLAY AREA SAFE?

If you have an outdoor play area in back of your home, check it for broken glass and nails even if it's necessary for you to make a daily inspection to do so

Movable Hassock Makes Ideal Storage Box For Child's Room

It's not only the preschooler who needs a "toy" box. Even the high school teen-ager has a storage problem for his collections whether it be records or scrap books.

He, more often than not, also needs extra seating space for when the gang drops in.

A wonderfully simple do-it project designed by portable tools, requires only six pieces of discarded wood or plywood, a few nails and hinges and a little imagination to make a comfortable rolling stool-hassock and hidden storage space.

Dad can make it in an hour with a jigsaw, or the teen-ager can safely put it together himself.

With a jig saw cut 6 pieces of discarded wood 13 by 15 inches. Mitre the corners of 4 pieces of 1 x 1 inch wood.

Sand the edges on all of the wood with a double action sander or a sand paper block. With an electric 1/4-inch drill to make the holes. Nail four of the pieces to the fifth piece (which will be the bottom of the hassock) so as to form an open box.

Use the drill to make screw-holes and screw the 4 pieces of 1 x 1 inch wood to the top edges of the open box.

Screw the lid piece on the 6th pieces of plywood to the outer edge of one of the wood strips with four hole hinges.

Attach a chain with screws to the left corner strip and to the lid a chain just long enough to meet the lid when it is in an open unhinged position.

inside edges of the hassock. Make envelope corners of the material and fold them under the lid before stapling.

If it is desirable to have a moving hassock, attach a rolling caster at each bottom corner.

This whole project should only take an hour or two with satisfactory results.

It's a Classroom 'In Motion'

School Flexibility to Be Desired

A few years ago, chairs and desks were unbolting from the floor to become movable units versatile enough to meet the growing demands placed upon the classroom. Co-ordinated cabinets and tables furthered the versatility of each classroom. Color became recognized as an important factor in creating the correct psychological setting for learning.

This year many of the nation's classrooms will exhibit even more versatility. Now multipurpose utilization has been extended to the walls of the classroom.

This new system is a series of flexible and interchangeable wall-hung teaching aids.

It is composed of units of chalkboard, tackboard, pegboard, flannelboard, easel board, wall-hung cabinets and open shelves, plus utility rails.

Because each of these units is based upon the same four-foot wide scale, mounted upon permanent standards, it is completely interchangeable with every other unit. And each unit can be hung at higher or lower intervals on the standards. This means that the wall space can be tailored to accommodate the requirements of subject as well as size.

Conceivably one might walk into a classroom today which is set up for a primary grade and find large areas of tackboard being utilized for display of student work and demonstration props.

A month later, the entire picture might be much changed. In the interim it may have become necessary to convert the room to meet the needs of a junior high school foreign language group.

What has happened is that the teacher has unhooked tackboard and replaced it with chalkboard and made other changes of units. It is also hung higher for the taller student body.

On a long-term basis, it means each classroom offers a more versatile center of learning, adjustable to accommodate both comfortably and correctly, the needs of changing school populations and teaching techniques.

Laundry Bag Clown Ideal For Child

A versatile circus clown who changes easily from a laundry pajama bag to a decorative pillow or school mascot has been designed as a delightful gift for any child.

Christopher the clown is dressed in traditional circus colors of half solid red, half red-and-white polka dots.

The familiar silhouette of narrow shoulders and baggy pants is achieved by gathering the costume at neck and feet.

A sturdy blue cotton loop attached to the back of his head permits convenient hanging on closet door, wall or bedpost.

Two gold-rimmed halo buttons covered in blue form the clown's shining eyes and graduating sizes of cover-your-own buttons trim the front of his costume. His red nose and the tassel on top of his peaked cap are covered buttons.

Typical clown touches are the frilly white ruffling at his neck—his one concession to grandeur—and his wig of black fringe hair. His large make-up mouth is red felt and so are the clover patterns around his eyes. Floppy felt cut-outs serve as his hands and feet.

The clown fills the need for attractive child's room accessories. His voluminous costume is open at back to cleverly conceal soiled laundry or hard-to-keep-together clothing like socks and mittens.

As a pajama bag, the Prims clown adds a decorative note for the child's bed, and converts easily to a perky pillow or cuddly stuffed toy by simply filling his costume with crushed foam rubber and sewing up the back.

The educated clown is equally at home in a college dormitory or teen-ager's room. His spacious costume makes a practical snag-proof container for lingerie and stockings. And for campus queens, the clown becomes a gay mascot when made up in college colors.

Pick Shoes With Style 'Oomph'

Youngsters returning to school this fall will have a new and comfortable foothold on fashion. Light as an autumn leaf and twice as colorful, leather shoes for the grade schooler are tops in smart styling and cut to follow the shape of the growing foot, according to Shoe Fashion Service of Leather Industries of America.

Young girls with an early flare for fashion can gratify it in a wide range of exciting fall shoe colors seen in back-to-school oxfords, saddle shoes, ankle boots and dress pumps. Red, navy and green appear in smooth, grained patent and brushed leather shoes that feature smarter, trimmer styling.

Lulliputian "scaled to size" stacked leather heels on young girls' party pumps are an important symbol of growing up. Low-set in-strap, T-straps and swivel straps add to the appeal of new shoes.

For parties, her toes will twinkle

PREPARE FOR RAIDS

Plan for after-school ice box raids, advises Jean Shaw, director of the Coldspot home service department at Sears Roebuck. It's economical to purchase soft drinks by the case and a supply of ice cubes makes it unnecessary to keep bulky bottles in the refrigerator. One new refrigerator comes with its own storage cabinet underneath—a handy place to keep "empties" as well as full bottles.

FOR FOOT CARE

The canvas oxfords chosen as the official shoe for Girl Scouts and Brownies must be serviceable and comfortable to keep up with their busy feet! These are fine for the growing feet of non-Scouts, too. They come in a choice of colors, have a protective cushion arch, and are completely washable.

in shell pumps of real patent leather. Resistant to soil and scuff, real patent leather shoes hold their brand new gleam at parties just when it's most important for a girl to look her best. They are easy to clean, too, with just the swipe of a damp cloth.

Tone-on-tone and the use of two texture leather design of girls' shoes mark another important junior fashion. Brushed leather saddle shoes in one color show lighter hues smooth leather saddles in the same color family. The leather sole helps the shoe keep its shape longer, too.

College-Bound? Break Out Those Knitting Needles Now . . .

Campus May Not Be Wild but It's Woolly

Girls with their eye on the ball of fashion will pick up their knitting needles and several balls of wool yarn to get their back-to-school and college wardrobes into chic shape.

Designers of fashions to knit yourself have created a gay collection of tops and accessory tidbits that any coed who can knit and purr will want to make.

Jackets are a fashion must for fall—to turn a campus sweater into an ensemble or to wear as warm top coverage when rooting the football team to victory. Knit turtlenecks long lengths are bulky cardigans, completely open down the front in a youthful version of Chanel.

Other cardigans borrow from the boys with their low V necklines and three-button closings. Worked in simple stockinette stitch or sometimes varied with a wide cable motif down the front and sleeves, these jackets can be knit in a easy-to-work with bulky wool in a wide variety of colors.

Since teen-agers and college girls all love a wardrobe of pull-overs, knitters have been given a bevy of beautiful styles from which to choose. Long-lined sweaters feature the newest roll-away turtlenecks sometimes worked in a contrasting collar. Gals who are going steady can knot boy-girl sweaters, one for the gal, and a matching one for her beau.

For the girls who want their accessories to match their sweaters, there are knee-length socks, knit in a cable stitch motif to make with a cable-stitched turtleneck, as well as argyle anklets to accompany a pullover with an argyle patterned front. And for truly top excitement, there are knit-it-yourself stocking caps with gigantic tassels to pair off with sweaters, whether in solid colors or in pattern motifs.

Since wool yarn of all weights is available in a wide variety of hues, according to the National Hand Knitting Yarn Association, teen-age knitters will have no trouble selecting shades for their knit-it-yourself fashions.

Handbags For the Coed

Fashion is "in the bag" for fall. So girls heading for high school and college can plan their clothes program around a wardrobe of clever handbags that take to daily and date-time activities with equal ease.

Sure to please any coed are new casual handbags that can accom-

School Gals Don't Gamble on Gams

Good leg grooming is getting more attention from the teen-age crowd than it has in years. Whatever the cause, it's a well-defined trend that high school girls as well as college belles are acquiring stockings for informal wear and extra special occasions. The seamless fashion is a favorite with teen-agers who spunk to the idea that crooked seams ruin good grooming.

Initially, each teen-ager will be wise to choose carefully the size and length of her stockings, advises experts. There are three important things to consider: foot length, leg length and the volume of both.

The girl with the short, wide foot and short plump leg may take the same size stockings as a girl with a long narrow foot and a medium leg because the volume in each case may be the same.

When buying watch for durability, the top part should be 4 inches deep to provide an ample gartering area. Look for clarity of texture particularly in the ankle area. Be sure all the stockings in the box are identical so that you get the wear of five pairs by buying three pairs at a time.

SNAP JEANS CUFFS

It's a big help on washday to have the cuffs of your youngster's jeans "snapped" up instead of permanently sewed in place. Just attach large snaps to the outer and inner seams of each leg; then the cuffs can be opened flat before washing, brushed free of dust, and prescrubbed with soap or detergent. Furthermore, cuffs will dry faster when unfolded.

CARPET SHORTCUTS

When adding a room or remodeling, investigate the possibilities of carpet as a finished floor. Carpet can be used effectively on sub flooring or slab construction.

DISTRIBUTE WEAR

To protect the beauty of carpets and rugs, try to distribute wear. Turn room-size rugs periodically or shift furniture so as to change the traffic pattern in a room with carpeting.

LIGHTWEIGHT warmth and all-weather protection is afforded the co-ed in a smart ear coat of Abaco's Bondaknit. ScottFoam, a porous foam interlining, is all one piece with the outer fabric.

Sock Department Stretches the Budget

Mothers often buy four new sock wardrobes during a single school year. But stretch socks can make this old budget bugaboo a thing of the past.

The specially processed yarn in stretch socks makes them grow and adjust with the greatest comfort to all sizes in a range. A single stretch sock size fits feet from size 6 to 8½, and another fits 8½ to 11's. According to socks fitters children from 2 to 7 years old will be fit by one size and those from 7 to 14 by the other.

A dozen pair of such sturdy, inexpensive socks, in a variety of styles and patterns for sport and dress, will grow with the child's foot to fit and wear for the full year.

Taste Surprises Adds Zest To Those School Lunches

When checking over a youngster's back-to-school needs, be sure the list includes a school lunch kit. There are many attractive styles to choose from.

The young man bent on flying will love the home town airport design, while a Navy man, junior size, will find the submarine kit to his taste. Little girls will have a big selection, too. And each of these contains a vacuum bottle.

You may want to get both standard and wide mouth vacuum bottles for the lunch kits to provide your children with a menu variety.

You'll find that the standard neck vacuum bottles are perfect for milk and juices, while wide mouth bottles are ideal for thick soups, stews, chili, baked beans and creamed foods.

Pack a plastic spoon to prevent scratching the glass filler of the vacuum bottle.

An element of surprise is important to sustain interest in the noon meal. The surprise need not be elaborate. It can be a favorite soup, carried in the vacuum bottle and a few croutons to be added to the soup at lunch time.

The treat might be some stuffed olives, or a bunch of grapes. Marshmallows are wonderful, too, to top off a cup of cocoa.

Remember that a vacuum bottle only retains the temperature of the liquid put into it, so begin with a bottle as hot or as cold as what you plan to put into it.

If a hot beverage is to be carried, fill the bottle with hot water and let it stand a few minutes. Then put in the beverage.

For a cold beverage, precondition the bottle with cold water.

To clean the vacuum bottle, partly fill with hot water, add two tablespoons of baking soda, shake and rinse. Don't immerse the whole bottle.

If you follow these hints, lunch time is sure to be a pleasant interval in your child's day.

FRANTIC day-of-the-party preparation is completely eliminated with a handy food freezer. Pizza, chocolate ice-box cake, parfait and other youngster's delights can be whipped up days ahead and stored for party day.

Pupils Mob Filled Freezer

Teen-agers always enjoy getting together for parties after a game, after school, after a dance, or just for the fun of it.

With hearty appetites a characteristic symbol of this group, food always takes on special significance for any sort of gathering.

Colorful Blankets Ideal For College

To those campus-bound for the first time, "bring blankets" might cause a problem.

First you must consider the weight needed for the region to which you're headed and the size of the bed you'll have in your room or dormitory at college.

You will want to give some thought to color. It's always fun to decorate your own room in a bright, cheerful way.

Schools usually supply only the barest essentials of furniture, leaving the decorating touches up to the individual.

Many of the new blankets are colorful and pretty enough to make a spread unnecessary.

To aid the consumer in selecting the right weight blanket for any climate, blankets made of Acrilan fiber now are tagged with labels indicating weights of blankets and when they should be used.

Blankets weighing three pounds and above are labeled "winter-weight" and are suitable for cold northern climates.

The two to 2.9 pound blanket, "medium weight," is ideal for temperate climates.

A blanket weighing two pounds and under is called "lightweight" and is for use in southern climates where winter nights turn chilly.

All are washable and moth and mildew do not affect them.

Anyone off to school will have no difficulty in finding a blanket to suit his needs. You can even find your school colors in the proper weight.

Consider 3 Elements When It Comes to Hi-Fi

Hi-fi enthusiasts should shop for equipment with three considerations in mind, especially when selecting a speaker system. These are price, adaptability and sound. A speaker should cost at least 50 per cent more than your amplifier. Adaptability refers to the size of the room in which a speaker must function.

OF FURTHER VALUE

Mesh bags, such as those which contain oranges and potatoes, make wonderful no-cost totes for school books or lunch boxes. They can be machine washed, too.

Back-to-school shopping time is a good time to sell your teen-ager on the idea of clothes that go into the washing machine and that need no ironing.

Preparing party fare is no problem for any young hostess with a food freezer in the house.

Special dishes can be prepared days ahead, wrapped and stored in the freezer so that when the big day arrives, the food can be popped in the oven or thawed out and all ready to serve when the guests come trooping in.

There's plenty of space to store the party food in this spacious freezer with the bookshelf arrangement on the door for storage of odd-shaped packages as well as regular frozen food cartons.

A menu that will bring cheers from the high school crowd might include such a universal favorite as pizza. This can be made easily from a packaged mix which contains the cheese, sauce and pie mix. Cook, freeze and store—then pop in oven to heat through just before serving.

"Hero" sandwiches, filled with tuna fish salad, egg salad or cream cheese and olive mixture can be stacked in the freezer and thawed before serving.

A frozen dessert and a supply of favorite beverages should satisfy all the young guests.

The hostess, too, can enjoy every minute of the party since there is no last minute food preparation to be done.

Brush Up on Your Studies, Grooming

The relationship between good grooming and good study habits is more than simple coincidence.

It is a fact of student life, recognized by school authorities who deplore the influence of the beatniks with their slouched posture and casual personal hygiene.

Youngsters are abandoning the slothful ways of the beatniks, according to a Fuller Brush Co. survey. It is suggested that parents and teachers pool their efforts to persuade young people to brush up both on their grooming and their studies.

Combined with proper parental guidance, five basic tools play an important part in personal grooming. They are brushes for the hair, teeth, clothes, shoes and nails.

These implements should be the personal property of the young person, who must be encouraged to make use of them in conjunction with the obviously necessary daily bath and clean clothes.

Mealtime Becomes Tots' Study Time

Youngsters of the nursery school set often need amusing at mealtime. There are decorative place-mats with woodchucks, fawns and bears that may do the trick. Children may use washable crayons with them to fill in the line drawings which appear beside the subject on the plastic-laminated mats.

Bedspread Brightens Room

Whether away at school or right in your own home, now is the time to start planning the color scheme for your room.

Interesting and imaginative color schemes require nothing more than careful thought.

Just as your clothes are an extension of your personality, your room, also, will reflect your individuality and taste.

Since budgets seldom permit lavish expenditures, sturdy and sensible choices should be made for all your basics.

There is no better way to start than with a colorful, moss-proof bedspread. Pick one that appeals to you in color and design, and use it as the basis of your color scheme, co-ordinating your wall color, scatter rugs, pillows, etc. to it.

If you want the "sitting room" look, push the bed into the corner of the room and eliminate the headboard. Many bedspreads come with matching cafe curtains, making it easy to create an almost custom-made effect.

Be sure also to invest in a good study lamp. You will need it for those late study nights. Inexpensive bookcases, painted to harmonize with the other colors in your room will help keep it neat and tidy.

You can create gay, inexpensive wall decorations by putting up travel posters.

Touchees of greenery or flowers add a warm, homelike touch, so invest in a few pots of ivy or philodendron. Use a pretty cup or glass to hold your pencils and pens and perhaps a small, pretty dish for paper clips, etc.

Even little touches add to the charm of a room and having a place for "everything" helps immeasurably to keep everything in its place.

Hardwood Furniture Aided By New Finish

A entirely new furniture finish, which will resist abrasions and prevent water marks and stains by solvents, has been announced to the combined sighs of relief by mothers.

A subject of research for years, it will permit use of fine hardwood furniture, even where wear is toughest as in children's rooms.

The birch desk top will wipe clean of ink or water paints, and the maple dresser top will remain unblemished after onslaughts by the date-bound teen-ager dabbling with cologne.

The college girl's nail polish and remover won't mar the dressable, and the true beauty of walnut, mahogany, cherry or other wood will be easily maintained with the wipe of a cloth.

Even cigarette burns can't hurt. An unusual new process in the preparation of this furniture actually distributes the cigarette's heat over the surface, preventing it from reaching burning temperature. The tobacco spot is wiped off and reveals no scars.

Mothers of school-age children need not dread the aftermath of teen-age parties where soft drinks are spilled and dripping glasses dot the tables. Researchers did actual tests under home conditions, using typical home products and allowing solvents to remain on the finish for hours at a time.

Here Are Tips On Subtle Use Of Fragrances

Though it can't be found in the catalogue, one course that should be part of every college girl's curriculum, is a how-to-course on the wearing of fragrances.

Knowing how to use fragrances so they enhance one's personality and grooming is an applied art. Push-button dispensers make fragrances simple to apply, satisfactory to keep over indefinite periods of time and safe to pack and carry on long and short trips. Aerosol containers are air-tight and leak-proof. Aerosol fragrances also last longer than those applied by dabbing.

Here are some tips on how to wear fragrances to the best advantage. They are offered by Donald S. Tuttle Jr., vice president of the Risdon Manufacturing Co., who make aerosol dispensers for many fragrance houses.

A well-rounded fragrance chest should include perfume, toilet water and cologne, all in the same scent. Each item serves a different purpose. Toilet waters and cologne enhance the effectiveness of perfume, which is the base of the fragrance ensemble.

Climate affects evaporation. Don't use too much or too overpowering a scent on humid days when atmosphere is heavy and evaporation is slow. Best fragrance effects are obtained in warm weather or in heated rooms.

Because warmth diffuses a fragrance, perfumes should be sprayed directly on the warm areas or pulse spots of the neck and arms. Toilet water and colognes should be sprayed on the body liberally.

Fragrances last only a few hours then they should be re-applied. A small decorative case should be carried in the purse.

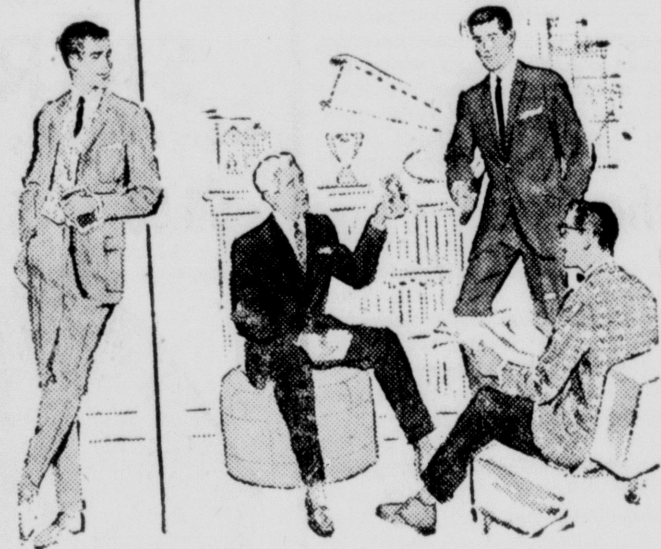

CHRISTOPHER the clown is easy to make. With pajamas tucked inside, he's both useful and colorful.

EVEN THE best scrubbed teen skin breaks out occasionally—and invariably it's the evening of a party. To minimize the outbreak, apply a medicated skin cream with a sterile Q-Tip cotton swab. The hygienic swab is far safer to use than a less-than-clean fingertip. Then, with shining hair, nose dusted with powder and a touch of clear red lipstick, the party-going make-up is completed. Be sure to dust the excess powder from the hairline with a cotton ball. They can be kept within easy reach in their hamper container right on your dressing table.

New Books at the Salem Public Library

"The Fiercest Heart" by Stuart Cloete. This novel tells the story of the great Boer trek of the 1830's in which ten thousand Boers - men, women, children - left the security of the Cape Colony and drove themselves north into the heart of Africa. They lived in their tented wagons, lived off the game they shot, left their dead on their trail. We learn the story through skillfully drawn characters, each of whom holds intense interest.

"Evvie" by Vera Caspary. Men found her irresistible. And she found them the same. Chicago in the twenties, Evvie and Louise sharing a studio apartment, exchanging confidences and planning parties for their many friends catch you up in a giddy whirl. Then Evvie is murdered and we must share the horror with Louise. Opinions differ as to whether this is better than the author's "Laura."

"The Sun is My Shadow" by Robert Wilder. Carol Hillyard refused to be ruled by her robber-baron of a father, and proved she was as aggressive and strong willed as he. But when she had built up her great newspaper chain she fell in love with a man as inflexible as herself.

"Ceremony in Lone Tree" by Wright Morris. One can always be sure that a new novel by this author will be different from anything one has read before. Lone Tree is a deserted plains hamlet where old Scanlon is living out his lonely life. On his ninetieth birthday those who care enough come to spend some time with him. Mr. Morris builds the whole of his novel out of a group of stories, each complete in itself, but each linked to the other also.

"The Loneliness of the Long-distance Runner" by Alan Sillitoe. Contemporary England is portrayed by a young writer in a group of short stories, each of which is somewhat similar in theme to the others, but not in character of plot. The title story is much longer than any of the others, and is the most outstanding.

KNITTED match-mates take top fashion honors with teen-agers. So pick up those knitting needles and make a gay collection of daytime knit-it-yourself duets. You can also knit a "hands off" sign to discourage any belle who has her eye on your steady "feller." Knit him a sweater that exactly matches your own, and every gal at school will know he's your property. Knit them in bright, eye-catching stripes.

ies to be found are the following:
"The Jupiter Missile Mystery" by Elizabeth Beatty; "Death Mask" by Ellis Peters; "To Kill a Mockingbird" by Harper Lee; "Murder After a Fashion" by Spencer Dean and "But Not Forgotten" by Ruth Fenimore.

NON-FICTION
"The Treasure of the Copper Scroll" by John Marco Allegro. Here we have the facts about the discovery of the strangest of the Dead Sea Scrolls, with facsimiles of the scroll, its texts, and comment on their significance. There are photographs of the scroll itself, of the places mentioned as they look today, and a map of the hiding places mentioned in the scroll.

"The Four Loves" by C.S. Lewis. The Four Loves explores the possibilities - and the painful problems - of the love between parents and children, the love of men for men and women for women, of men and women for each other, and the love of God which may enrich all love. Mr. Lewis can always be counted upon to find a fresh approach, and also a truly thoughtful one, to human problems.

"The Firmament of Time" by Loren Eiseley. The author uses the story of geology, anthropology and biology to show the step by step development of man's knowledge and of his ideas about nature and the world.

"Thomas Wolfe" by Elizabeth Nowell. Miss Nowell was Wolfe's literary agent as well as his close friend. Even so, she has not relied just upon memory but spent many years compiling the material and writing this sensitive and detailed story of a man of genius who was so little understood during his short life.

"A Long Row to Hoe" by Billy C. Clark. Reminiscences of a childhood spent at Catlettsburg, Ky., and from his account, rather the larger part of it in the Ohio river. The poverty of this family can hardly be imagined in this day of plenty - but Mr. Clark Sr. would allow no one in his family to take charity. Comparison with Tom Sawyer is inevitable, but Billy Clark's style is all his own.

"Theatre at the Crossroads" by John Gassner. Gassner's name is a familiar one to any person who has dealt in any way with books about the theatre. The only book which has come out on the American theatre since World War II, this is his judgment of the position of the theatre at the present time. He presents also sound critical comment on plays and playwrights of the present time.

"Communication in Business and Industry" by William M. Schutte and Erwin R. Steinberg. The authors, consultants in the field about which they are writing, state that communication has not caught up at all with technology in today's business. In a time when "paper work" must of necessity be much greater in subject volume, we have hardly worked at all in business to simplify our methods of expressing ideas, with the result that they say that we often use "stiff collar" language in an otherwise modern firm. The book has much illustrative material as well as clear and concise rules for good modern communication.

"McCall's Treasury of needlecraft." This book covers embroidery, knitting, crochet, hairpin lace and tatting, hooking of rugs, rug braiding, various types of gifts to make even a section on how to use various types of glittery materials in making articles of clothing. One of the most complete books of its type available.

PEEL AHEAD OF TIME

Oranges for school lunch may be peeled at home, then wrapped tightly in a foil "skin." Carrot or celery strips remain crisp if they are sealed this way. And dampened paper towels when wrapped also can go in a lunch bag for wiping hands and face.

TIME ON HIS HANDS

A wrist watch not only is a gift that gives pleasure to a school child but also one that can teach him responsibility. He won't be able to say he didn't know the time when he's late coming home for dinner.

PANELING SHORTCUT

To establish masculine decor in a boy's room, panel the walls with a practical wood-grain paneling. Plastic-surfaced hard-board planks come in six handsome grains and are easy to install over old walls. An occasional damp wiping is all that's needed to clean plastic-surfaced hardboard.

PEP UP TAPIOCA

Tapioca Pudding Special: Swirl prune puree through tapioca pudding and lend new excitement to this pudding that is so popular with growing children. An easy way to prune puree is simply to open a jar of the strained prunes sold as baby food.

BIG FAMILY GAME

Bigger family units get special attention from - game makers. Three different age levels can compete on equal terms in a new edition of "Go to the Head of the Class" a quiz game which bases play in a classroom.

CUT DOWN NOISE

Carpet is an effective sound-conditioner. Acoustical tests have shown that carpet absorbs both airborne and impact noises, reducing noise as much as 50 per cent in a room.

AVOID ACCIDENTS

National Safety Council reports that many accidents in the home are caused by slipping on floors and stairs. Carpet gives sure footing and helps to soften the blow if a fall should occur.

FIRE HAZARDS

Prevent fires in your home by checking for such hazards as oily cleaning or paint rags and accumulations of rubbish in attic and basement.

COMFORT and styling make office chairs fine for students' rooms. Sit 'em down, and good work guaranteed.

Celestial Globes Pinpoint the Stars

Globes, long a staple home aid for young geographers, are making news in new form, reports Toy Guidance Council. New global wrinkles include a globe guaranteed shatterproof no matter what high jinks occur in the playroom.

A variety of illuminated globes dramatize the location of key spots in the evening's homework. Decorative color is used in the backgrounds of the familiar continent outlines, with blue, white and black predominating favorites.

A popular addition to global offerings for the student crowd is the celestial globe, which gives the exact location of the stars at every hour, a celestial time scale, zodiac information and other basic aids to star gazers.

A camera makes an effective study tool—as well as a useful hobby-starter for the conscientious teen-ager.

"Snapping up" term papers or notebooks with snapshots that illustrate the text is but one use students will find for easy-to-operate still cameras. Such automatic cameras, with electric eye exposure systems, allow youngsters to concentrate on their subject without fiddling with dials and gadgets. A trip to the museum, or a field trip, will yield perfect prints every time, avoiding waste and disappointment.

Supplying "on-the-spot" news photos for the school paper or yearbook may start a teen-ager on a hobby that will last a lifetime. Membership in the photo club will teach him technique, both in taking and developing pictures, and offer incentives to improving his picture quality through competition.

Outdoor sporting events offer a variety of material to the enterprising shutterbug. Such pictures might even supply a theme for other creative activities. One high school girl got so interested in snapping pictures of local and international tennis meets, she wrote a short story based on the tennis theme. Her story and an imaginative snapshot taken during a championship meet won her acclaim in a contest sponsored by a national educational magazine.

Picture-taking among teen-agers is not necessarily limited to "snap shooting." Movies, too, have become simple to take with such innovations as the electric eye, the zoom lens, and instantaneous slow motion.

Far-sighted camera manufacturers have turned the once-complicated art of photography into a simple but stimulating pastime for the family, and an inspirational activity for today's students.

Child's Room Can Be Kept Neat and Tidy

Children in small homes often drive the family crazy with toys scattered about and a steady noisy hum.

Small or large, a youth's bedroom can become a playroom. Take another look at space available. Perhaps you can use the vertical space to advantage. Choose childproof materials and dad, when he's handy with tools, for the job.

By using vertical space, for example, a small room turns into a railroad yard. To avoid clogging floor space, place the road-bed for tracks on stilt attached to the headboards of bunk beds and storage units. Use a suspension bridge device for adults who wish to enter the juvenile railway domain.

Hubbub and mess can be controlled with a noise deadener, like a resilient rubber flooring. A cocoon-colored flooring with directional pattern of beige and pink tiles will give an effect of spaciousness.

In the vertical domain, more space is created with a large storage unit attached to the side of one of the beds. A built-in desk unit can be installed and flanked with plywood cabinets with adjustable shelves for odd-shaped playthings.

LUNCHBOX TIPS
By all means tuck an apple for the teacher into the elementary school child's lunchbox, and maybe pear for himself. And a lot of variety in lunchbox desserts comes with packaged cakes that are ready to serve and require no baking like Sara Lee.

SHEEP'S CLOTHING

A smiling face made of highly flexible rubber has been developed to cover and conceal the needle on a hypodermic syringe. This is to eliminate anticipatory fear of injection among children.

EVEN AN energetic boy finds his lunch tastes better when it is eaten in the dining room and not gulped in the kitchen. Junior can help set the table, and Mom needn't worry about breaking with pretty melamine dinnerware.

Diet, Skin Care, Exercise All Help Girl Wanting Dates

The difference between a cool cat and a cied can be simply skin deep—complexion trouble that means book dates instead of Coke dates.

Getting skin on the credit and off the debit side can be a simple, three-step routine, according to Jeanne Bryant, complexion consultant.

DIET: What you eat today is a skin plus or minus tomorrow. A routine of sundaes, pies and other sweets wrecks even the sturdiest constitution. Excess fats and sugars come to the surface every time.

Any teen who's striving for a clearer complexion may shed spare poundage at the same time as a bonus.

EXERCISE: Fall and spring athletic doings usually give teens plenty to get up and go about. During winter, though, they should arrange walks, ice skating and visits to the pool to keep in trim. Good circulation stimulates the rosy look and helps keep complexion clear.

SKIN CARE: Best direct treatment is the deep-cleansing scrub—often and long. Wash-massage face and neck at least twice a day, two minutes each time, to ensure clear skin. That goes for girls and fellas alike.

The dirt in the air is almost as fierce a threat to skin as makeup that's been allowed to remain in the pores.

Using a deodorant soap with a germicide serves a double purpose: it cleans deep without dehydrating and lays down a protective film against blemish-causing bacteria for the future.

Keeping this type of soap in the school desk or locker occupies little space and pays big dividends.

Play it cool. Banish your skin problems before they ban you from the school circle. Nobody's going to check your soulmate potential when the surface isn't up to snuff.

PEP UP WITH BATH

Five morning minutes in the bathtub will refresh a child far more than five extra minutes in bed. To snap your scholar out of drowsiness, suggest a quick tub bath in warm soapy water, followed by a cool shower. Finally, a brisk towel to stimulate circulation and he or she will feel ready to face the day's studies.

Manners Go With Gracious Living

The success of a child's education depends upon far more than what he learns in his classroom.

Psychologists point out that many of his most vital habits and attitude toward himself and others are formed, not in school, but in the home at meal times.

Most modern mothers are fully aware of the necessity to provide their youngsters with hot, nourishing well-balanced meals. But many do not realize that it is just as important to provide him with the right eating atmosphere.

An appreciation for gracious living and a set of gracious manners do not spring forth full-blown once a child has grown to manhood. These qualities must be installed in him while his character is in a formative stage—in childhood.

According to the experts, mothers can bend the twig in the right direction by taking a few simple steps to treat a child like a first class citizen in his own home:

If you have a dining room, use it regularly for family lunches and dinners. Don't just save it for company.

Set the table properly and tastefully for every meal.

Use a set of unbreakable melamine dinnerware in an attractive pattern for daily family use.

Use colorful plastic mats that can be swapped off after every meal so that accidents need not cause extra work for mother or extra fearfulness on the part of the child.

See that the child is seated at the proper height when eating. Don't make do with an old telephone book, but cut a slab of la-mine dinnerware in an attractive pattern for daily family use.

Use colorful plastic mats that can be swapped off after every meal so that accidents need not cause extra work for mother or extra fearfulness on the part of the child.

See that the child is seated at the proper height when eating. Don't make do with an old telephone book, but cut a slab of latex foam of the proper height and cover it with spongy plastic or a fabric that can be zipped off for washing.

Use washable floor covering in your dining area when your family is young.

Keep the conversation at meals as relaxing and pleasant as possible. Don't turn the dinner hour into a rigid disciplinary session. You might remember, too, that parental example is better than a thousand words. You must have good manners yourself to pass them along to the children.

FOR THE BACK YARD

If you plan an afterschool playground in your back yard buy swing seats of leather belting, rubber or rubberized canvas. It's hard for a child to stand on them, and, consequently fewer kids will fall from them. Also if such a seat strikes a child, it can't injure him severely.

Geography Quiz

Think You're Expert?
Then Try To Answer
These Questions

The jet age has "made the world smaller" and most readers are more geography-conscious than ever before. Here are 10 questions prepared by the editors of the Hammond Map Co. Try your skill and note the scoring at the bottom.

1. Which city is farther north: New York or Venice, Italy?
2. Which end of the Panama Canal, the Atlantic or Pacific, is farther west?
3. Which are the three longest rivers in the world?
4. Which is the highest mountain in the world and where is it?
- 5.5 What is the capital of India?
6. What recently constructed air base in the Arctic has shortened air distance to Asia and Europe?
7. Which has the larger area, Canada or the U.S.?
8. Why is the mean winter temperature of New York so much lower than that of London or Paris, although the latter are much farther north?
9. Which is the highest mountain in North America?
10. Which is the largest of the West Indian Islands?

ANSWERS

1. Venice, Italy. Latitude of New York 40 degrees 44 minutes N., latitude of Venice 45 degrees 26 minutes N.
2. The Atlantic end.
3. The Nile in Egypt, the Amazon in South America and the Mississippi-Missouri in the U. S.
4. Mt. Everest. On the border between Nepal and Tibet. 29,028 feet.
5. New Delhi.
6. Thule, Greenland.
7. Canada. Land area 3,621,616 square miles U.S. land area, 3,545,791 square miles.
8. This is because of the Gulf Stream which carries with it a body of warm air.
9. Mt. McKinley, 29,320 feet.
10. Cuba. 42,857 square miles. If you scored 100 per cent, rush to the head of the class! 75 per cent, you're in good company! 50 per cent, try again—0 to 50 per cent. Well!

Air-Conditioned Rooms Help Students Study

Contrary to popular opinion, air-conditioned schools are more economical schools. They also provide distinct educational benefits.

Among the latter are: (1) Almost complete elimination of outside noise; (2) easier maintenance—walls stay clean longer, closed windows and filtered air keep out dusting; (3) cleaner air and lack of drafts.

A recent study showed that learning efficiency dropped appreciably when the thermometer climbed above 60 degrees.

LIFTING up and out from the chin, this teen-ager gives herself a noon-time complexion refresher in the school washroom. Next she'll wash her cheeks, then finish with a circular massage of forehead and temples. Two minutes of wash and massage, another three to make up, and according to Dial Research Laboratories, you'll face the school afternoon with a fresh, American beauty look.

'A Steady' Girl Is Start of the Clean-Ears Period

When Boy Grooms Self, Clear the Decks

Many preshavers will fool around with Dad's safety razor and shaving lotion when Dad's not around. But when it comes to tying shoelaces, cleaning fingernails, washing behind ears, combing hair or bathing, Mom has to make like a policeman daily.

But one day, that young urchin will find a gal. They will exchange rings, buttons or sweaters. (And don't be alarmed if he says "he stabbed her"—he only means he gave her his fraternity pin.) Of course, from that moment on, he becomes interested in how he looks.

To make sure he keeps the grooming habit even if he drops the girl, try giving him some grooming aids as a reward for "pencil pounding"—homework to the rest of us.

There are many grooming kits for boys on the market. One he will actually enjoy using contains hair dressings, soap he can hang around his neck while in the shower, and stick deodorant—an item he might as well get used to applying daily right about now.

Boys seem to feel that grooming aids are designed only for the female contingent. Fixin' and fussin' just ain't for them.

But the first time he smiles instead of snarls at the girl next door, it's up to Mom to step in with the grooming aids. Mother nature will do the rest.

Many School Buses In Use; Factor of Safety Paramount

More pupils will be using school buses this year, says a leading school bus manufacturer, and cautions school officials against allowing "standees" on them.

In accidents involving pupils standing in the aisles, he points out, 90 percent were permanently or fatally injured.

Newton Glekel, president of Divco-Wayne, notes that more than one-third of the pupils in our public schools ride school buses. More than 8.4 million public school pupils at last count were transported at public expense.

On a state by state survey, the proportion transported ranged from 17 percent in California to 53 percent in Virginia.

The cost, including operation and maintenance, but not purchase of new buses, amounted to $307 million or 4.5 of the total expenditure for elementary and secondary schools.

The average cost per pupil was $36.55 and the range in state cost was 16 to 87.

Further increases in the number of pupils going to school in school buses are inevitable, according to Mr. Glekel.

"In view of this, it is especially important that the utmost care and consideration for safety regulations be followed to the 'T.'"

FREEZE SUNDAES

If your children come home for lunch, ice cream sundaes can be a time-saving dessert according to Jean Shaw, director of the Cold-spot home service department. Assemble these treats ahead of time and freeze in covered paper cups. Let sundaes soften at room temperature while the youngsters at the main course.

Students Develop Good Reading Habits

"How I'd love to sail around the world," wails a 14-year-old, when the going gets tough in algebra. His sister sighs over the boy in French class who doesn't know she exists.

If they are readers they can find both pleasure and release from the pain of these and other "problems." One might read "Two Years Before the Mast" by Richard Henry Dana, and the other "Seventeen" by Booth Tarkington.

Unless books are handy young people are not apt to read anything that isn't required in school, yet the reading habit is one of the most rewarding that can be acquired.

Teachers agree that they can build better reading habits with paperbacks because it is within the realm of reason to suggest supplementary reading at very low cost.

They have found that once a student discovers the idea of reading for pleasure as well as for school credit, his taste buds are likely to mature to the point where he experiments with books whose authors he has heard about. And five dollars, well spent, can buy the core of a lifetime library for a teen-ager.

In developing its line of classics in paperbacks, Timothy J. Horan, representative of Bantam Books, points out that they follow the principle that children should be introduced as early as possible to books that have stood the test of time.

School Buildings Accent Daylight

Good lighting has become a cornerstone of modern school construction. It is a key element in producing physical surroundings conducive to the learning process.

In addition to better and more effective artificial lighting, architects are harnessing daylight to provide a plentiful supply of well-diffused light for school rooms of any size.

A popular material for this purpose is glass fiber-reinforced plastic building panels.

Besides its translucency and even light diffusion it can take school wear and tear. Boys being boys, and girls usually following suit, it is important that the material is shatterproof.

The reasonable cost of glass fiber panels, together with the ease of installation, make it an economical material.

Adults Are Models For Teens' Grooming

Teenagers are sometimes frighteningly outspoken, especially if adults give them a good reason for sounding off.

Recently, a group of young girls took a hard look at their mothers, teachers and other members of the adult world. Their gripe was that grownups often fail to practice what they preach.

"Wash your hair, it looks dreadful," says mother. But mother's hair doesn't look well-groomed either.

"Take off that soiled blouse and put on something clean," says mother. But mother's house dress looks very much the worse for wear!

Teachers, extolling the virtues of good grooming, are critical of their students. But are they always well-groomed themselves?

A good example can accomplish more than a few thousand words. An adult who looks neat exerts an invaluable influence over youngsters.

A clean, clear complexion, freshly shampooed hair, immaculate clothes—all make a lasting impression.

VARIETY IS ANSWER

Variety is the secret of success in packing lunchboxes. Instead of sandwiches five days a week, try an occasional surprise such as chicken salad packed in a wide-mouthed thermos bottle. Keep the thermos refrigerated overnight or quench it with ice cubes before packing salad. Muffins with jelly or a cream cheese and brown bread sandwich would be a good accompaniment for this salad lunch.

FOR THE SCHOLAR

If a teen-age boy is not concerned about the appearance of his room, it may be because that room is no longer suitable for him. He needs a combination bedroom study, and this type of room can be provided with a little ingenuity, a few yards of material and a new paint job.

FOR the girl who "irons her own," separates made of crease-resistant fabrics, such as a blend of Creslan acrylic fiber and wool, will save her time and labor.

LEARNING BY DRILL is back in fashion on the home front as well as in the school room. Mom can give the young scholar a workout in the intricacies of division with a streamlined version of the classic flash cards, which provides a plastic worksheet, easy to wipe off. Geography gets a lift, too, with the newest edition of Game of the States, which bases play on who sells the most from coast to coast, with knowledge of all 50 state capitals a must for winning.

KEEP ROOMS TIDY

School children should have a well-lighted area for study and ample work and storage space in their rooms. For an atmosphere conducive to homework the room should also be uncluttered.

BAR FREAK GARB

When you buy back-to-school clothing for the teenagers in your family, don't buy things that are overdone. Young children have a horror of looking different from their classmates.

Colleges Differ In Requirements

Last fall nearly 3,500,000 students entered institutions of higher education.

College requirements differ and student abilities vary, often causing confusion about admission requirements at different colleges.

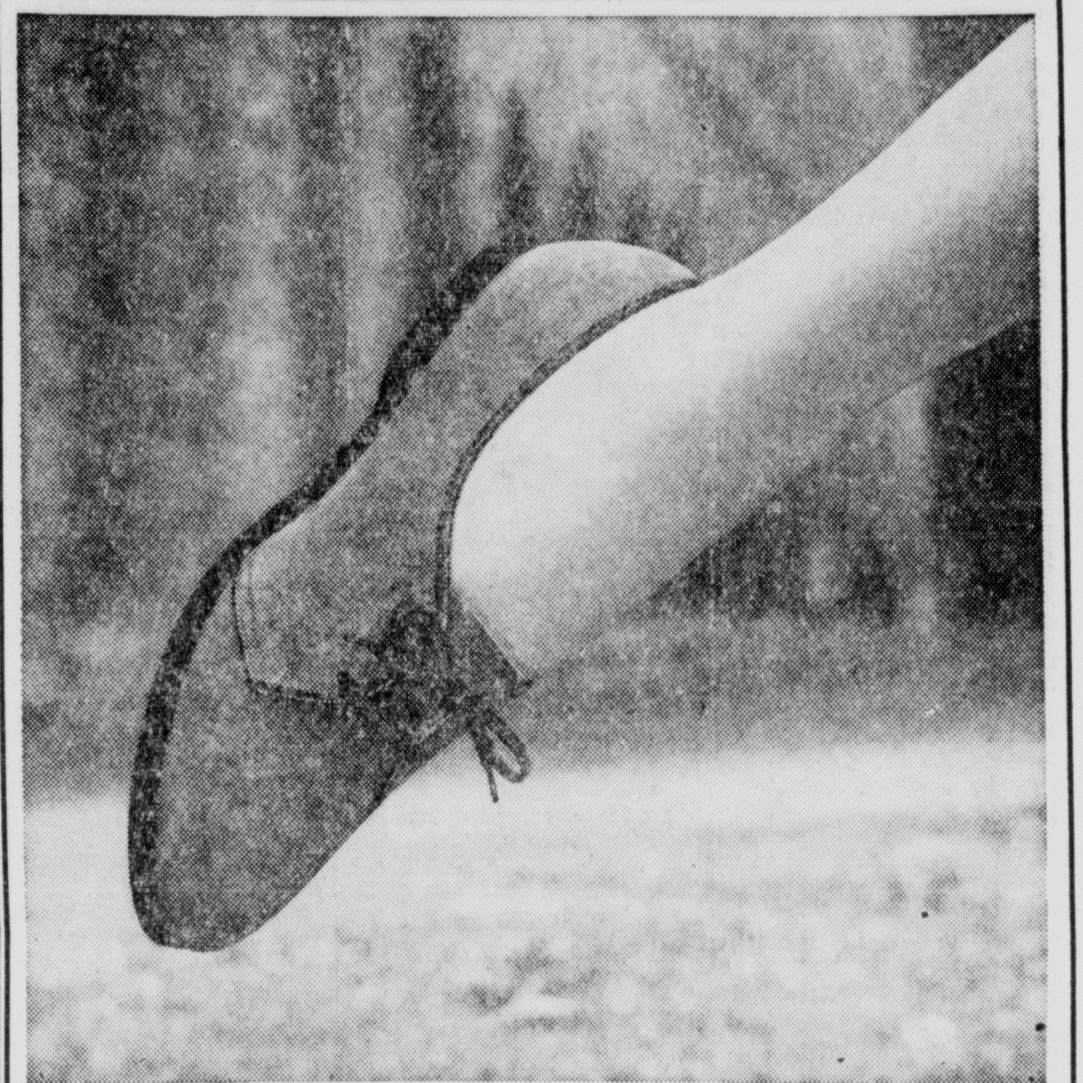

Opportunities exist, too, for education at specialized institutions that are passed by because the colleges are not well known.

Many reference books are available which will give interested students information on entrance requirements, accreditation and recognition, control or affiliation of the various colleges and universities in the U. S.

One such book is the College Blue Book, published by Christian E. Burckel and Associates, Yonkers, N. Y. This book lists not only all accredited institutions but also all institutions that accept high school graduates.

Any student who plans to go on to college should familiarize himself long beforehand with the requirements that must be fulfilled for admission to the college of his choice, as well as information about capacity, enrollment, scholarships and other data.

Fragrances smell differently on different people. This is because body chemistry causes subtle changes.

Cookies and Milk Routine Can Be Avoided

Why Not Bake After-School Snack?

That indispensable "meal" for growing youngsters — the after-school snack—need not be confined to sandwiches or cookies and milk. Simple-to-make baked snacks can be fun for a group of youngsters and can at the same time encourage your daughter's interest in learning how to cook.

A recipe which involves a syrup, for instance, not only satisfies the sweet tooth but also adds a cooking skill to your youngster's repertoire.

Here are the directions for Orange-Glazed Sugar Muffins, a recipe which will give some cooking practice to your daughter, put some vitamin C into the day's diet, and provide some after-school or rainy day fun for two or more children.

A standard muffin mix recipe can be used, substituting orange juice for milk. Bake the muffins as usual. When brown and still hot, spear one at a time with a fork and dunk into the hot orange glaze syrup.

Now, the secret of a successful orange glaze syrup is in maintaining it at a constant temperature—and here is where your little girl learns a skill—the use of the automatic surface unit on your electric range. This modern development maintains a perfect temperature with great accuracy and hence makes formerly tricky syrups and sauces virtually foolproof.

For the Orange Glaze Syrup, combine the following ingredients: 4 teaspoons grated orange rind, 1 cup orange juice, ½ cup lemon juice, 4 teaspoons grated lemon rind, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup superfine granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon nutmeg.

Set the automatic surface unit at simmer and, stirring occasionally, allow the mixture to simmer for 20 minutes. After 20 minutes, start dunking the muffins, but maintain the simmer setting for the syrup so it will remain at the proper consistency until used.

With a fork, dip each muffin into the syrup, drain, then roll in superfine granulated sugar. The resulting confection is a delicious treat—and great fun in the making, for two or a crowd!

Jersey Is Practical And Chic for College

Every girl's dreams of college include an extensive wardrobe and the possibility of being named "best dressed" in the class.

Unfortunately, in most schools closet space is limited, and often two or more students must share one closet.

Even so, it is possible to have a wardrobe that is fashionable and practical and, at the same time, saves precious space. The answer is jersey.

Many years ago the use of jersey fabric was limited because of its clinging and sagging characteristics.

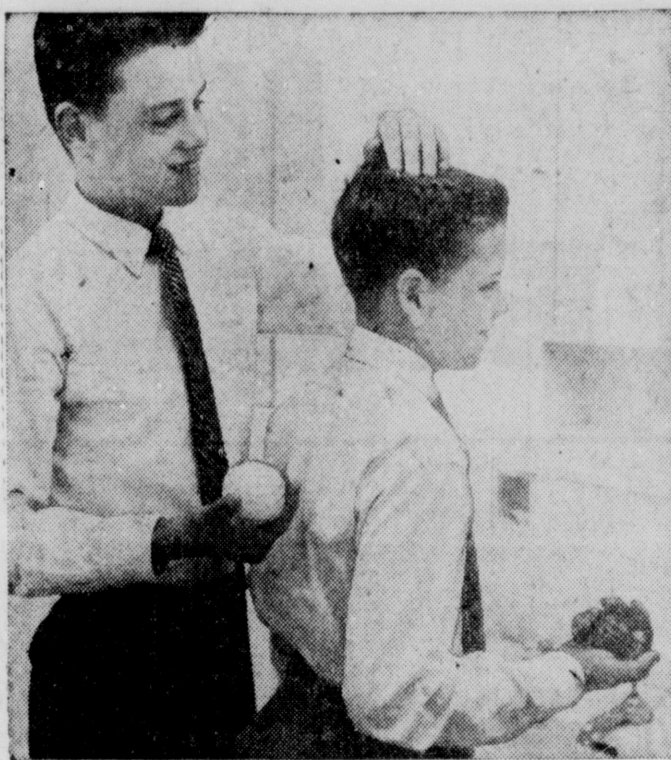

The advantages of a college wardrobe of jersey are that garments are lightweight yet warm; they will not wrinkle; they pack well, take up little closet space.

SHAMPOO MOPPET

A child's hair should be shampooed whenever it needs it, certainly once a week. The hair should be rubbed with a soft, turkish towel until almost dry and then brushed vigorously with upward, outward strokes until it is completely dry.

WRAP CAKE SLICES

Before Sunday's layer cake has time to dry out, freeze individually wrapped slices for school lunches. They will keep three or four months if temperature is zero-degrees. Immediate recovery of cold in on variation no matter how often the door is opened.

THAT tousled top was fine for the afternoon ball game, but it won't do for the school dance. Hair dressing that will tame even the wildest crew cut is what's needed—that is if you hope to look as slick as your chick.

KIDS HAVE IT

Here's a delicious, nourishing drink for the Small Fry: Mash two ripe bananas, blend with five cups of apple juice, add a generous dash of cream and beat with a rotary beater until smooth and frothy. Serve in tall glasses.

Drip-Dry Cottons Now Stain-Repellent

Mom won't need to cry over spilled milk if her child's clothing is protected with the new stain repeller for wash-and-wear cottons. In a few seconds, the spill can be removed by blotting it gently with an absorbent cleansing tissue. No trace of the liquid will remain.

The stain-repellent finish is the first to resist both water and oil-borne stains. Yet it does not affect the appearance or feel of the fabric. Until this year, it was available only in dry-cleanable fabrics. Children can wear these garments several times before laundering. They may be washed require little or no ironing. Treated fabrics are not affected by the heat of tumble dryers. They also drip-dry readily because they are water repellent.

If liquids are forced between the fibers of treated fabrics, they may leave a stain. These spots can be removed with ordinary household cleaning agents without leaving a ring, because the stain repeller coats the individual fibers of the fabric.

A wide variety of stain-repellent children's fashions will be in the stores this fall. A dozen new styles will include the special finish.

Mothers who sew can also take advantage of this work-saving finish. Department stores throughout the country will offer stain-repellent wash-and-wear cottons in an assortment of plaids, prints, checks and solid colors.

So the biggest crisis spilled milk can cause is the need for a trip to the store for more.

Painting Is Good Project For Child

When a child must remain indoors or is home from school with a temperature, painting a self-portrait makes an afternoon's fun. Tear off a length of shelf paper as tall as the child. Fasten it to a wall, get out his paint box and give him some cotton swabs to use as little paint brushes. Have him draw a self-portrait in color. It's fun, restful and usually takes hours.

Afterward, he can do life-size portraits of brothers, sisters and friends.

A GOOD ball point pen, such as Scripto's new "Escort" is a boon to any student. It boasts the world's first filter tip, and, in addition has a perma-textured carbide ball point and greater ink capacity. If you like your ball points to match your sweaters, you can choose from four fashion colors.

'Wash and Wear' Helps Mother

From kindergarten to college, approaching school days mean shopping days, and wardrobe planning occupies many families as they prepare students for another year of school activity.

Fortunately for the budget, many school clothes these days are made of minimum care fabrics that can be easily and inexpensively laundered at home.

And, at last, "minimum care" has become a reality in every sense, with the introduction of a single control automatic washer. The homemaker has only to load the washer, add the desired laundering aids and push one button—the one button which corresponds to the type of fabric load she is washing.

This single button controls a complete wash cycle, from starting the washer to the final water extraction phase.

The question of laundering care is not the only one that confronts the homemaker as she shops for her children's school clothes.

She should be sure to check seams to see if they're free from puckers, check the manufacturer's tag to be sure that wash-and-wear articles contain at least 50 per cent synthetic fiber or are resin treated, check trimmings and linings to be sure they offer the same ease of care characteristics as the garment itself.

When buying for a high school or college student, the shopper should give thought to the durability of the fabric and the style.

Durable washable woolsens, a great favorite with this crowd, can be bought without thought to cleaning costs because they now offer no particular home laundering problem—the single control washer's button marked wool, controls a cycle that duplicates gentle hand washing.

Preschool shopping days can be exciting for both mothers and students, and if they choose carefully, the excitement doesn't have to be expensive.

Money Lessons Start at Home Early In Life

One thing every youngster should learn is how to handle, and save, money. And since there are no courses in money management for small fry, it's generally up to the parents to get them started on the right track.

Those first lessons in "personal finance," say the experts, should begin by training youngsters to get along on a fixed allowance. The amount varies in families, but the prime consideration is regularly—weekly, bi-weekly or monthly.

At first, the amount will be small, with payments at fairly frequent intervals. A few pennies, twice a week, for the kindergarten, for example, will give him practical experience purchasing crayons or a balloon with his own money. Learning to possess and then to part with pennies for some specific want is the first important lesson in money management.

As the child grows older, his allowance should keep measure with his age, ability and the things he needs. And the older child can be taught how to supplement his allowance with his own earnings.

Just as he learns to spend, so must he be taught to save. Establish a goal to provide the necessary incentive—a toy, a box of popcorn, a trip to the amusement park. As the child grows older, stimulate his interest in the things he really needs. Also, not only his own needs, but the wants of others should be taken into consideration. And instilling the idea of thrift—and a regular savings habit—is more important in a youngster's training than any particular object he is saving for.

PACK a surprise in your child's lunch kit. Grapes, pickles or raisins — anything so he'll smile and eat.

Once the coins really begin to collect, he learns the best place to keep them is in a bank where the money is safe and draws interest.

KEEPS BOOKS CLEAN

The best method of cleaning ordinary school books is to wash them, says a professional librarian. Wipe each book with a soft cloth wrung out of thick soap or detergent suds; repeat with a clean damp cloth. Take care not to have the cloth too wet, and never wet gilt or painted title lines.

PRIVACY is precious to the school child. Here's how one family provided it by converting an unfinished attic into a perfect study-hobby room for their teenage son. Helps the family escape their son's music-to-study-by program, too.

HE'LL APPRECIATE IT

Here's a gift suggestion for the Joe College who "has everything." It's the Remington Lektro-cordless shaver. He can keep neat with it anywhere ... even shave on his way to class.

WATCH THEM GROW

Want to keep a visual record of your child's growth? On each birthday, mark the height on the wall in the youngster's room. Give the mark a thin coat of shellac so it will be preserved.

SAVE THOSE GAMES

Did your youngsters receive cardboard-based games recently? The cardboard will last longer and look better if sprayed with shellac. Shellac now comes in a can ready for spraying.
